$800,000 School Bond Issue

Will Be Submitted To The Voters by Board of Education On Tuesday, May 7

Announcement is made through the Sedalia Democrat-Capital this morning of an $800,000 bond issue which will be submitted by the Board of Education to the voters of the Sedalia School District on Tuesday, May 7.

If this bond issue is approved by a two-thirds majority of the voters, the Board proposes to construct the following new buildings and additions to the present school system:

1. Cafeteria-gymnasium at Smith-Cotton High school.

2. Additions to Smith-Cotton High school which would provide the following:

a. Two library-study hall units (one for junior high school and one for senior high school pupils).

b. The present auditorium-gymnasium remodeled into a permanent stage.

c. Additional classrooms to accommodate, more adequately, present enrollment and to provide facilities for two years of junior college

Elementary School

3. A new elementary school (one building) to replace Broadway and Horace Mann. This building would be located, as near as possible, in the center of school population of both of these districts.

It would be fire proof and modern and would have, at least, the following accommodations:

2. Twenty-one regular classrooms.

b. An auditorium-gymnasium.

c. Cafeteria.

d. Special room for music, art and manual training.

e. Library.

f. Offices, etc.

This would be a real, "honest-to-goodness" elementary school—adequately lighted—and a "school home" for children of these districts that would be a credit to Sedalia and to the State of Missouri.

Improve Other Schools

4. Jefferson and Whittier schools would be made fire-resistive with concrete corridors and stairways—thereby insuring the safety of children in these schools. And, in addition to these measures of safety, an auditorium - gymnasium unit would be provided in each of these districts.

Mark Twain, Washington and Hubbard schools have had such facilities for years—Washington since 1925; and Mark Twain and Hubbard schools since 1928.

Other districts require equal facilities.

5. An addition would be provided for the industrial arts department of Hubbard school; and additional playgrounds would be purchased—if possible.

The Sedalia School District is completely out of debt.

Interest rates are the lowest in the history of America. And, if ever there were a time to borrow money for public improvements—that time is now.

Bonds Adveised

The Board of Education has advertised the proposed bond issue for sale—in advance of the election. Notices of this sale were mailed to twenty-five bond companies or banks in Kansas City, St. Louis, Detroit, Toledo, Chicago and New York.

Sealed bids were received by the Board of Education Tuesday evening, March 26, 1946.

The lowest and best bid was submitted by the G. H. Walker and company of St. Louis, for an average interest rate of 1.09 per cent for twenty years. In addition to their bid of 1.09 per cent, the bidder also assumes the following financial responsibilities:

a. Payment of attorney fees for the proposed bond issue. (Charles and Trauernicht of St. Louis).

b. Payment for printing of bonds—if the election is successful.

c. Payment of registration of bonds with the State Auditor of Missouri.

These services would have cost the School District a minimum of $2,500,00.

Find Young Girl Murdered

ST. LOUIS, April 6—(AP)—Alice Shryock, 16, who disappeared after attending a motion picture show last Wednesday night, was found murdered today in a wooded area near the end of a suburban street car line.

Picnickers found the body which bore stab wounds in the abdomen and bruises about the face, legs and arms. The girl's clothing was in disarray and her shoes and stockings were missing.

She was last reported seen boarding a bus for her home about 12:15 a. m. Thursday when she parted company with a young couple she had accompanied to the movie.

The secluded spot where the body was found is about six miles from the girl's home

Fire Destroys Colonial Home

The 12-room frame Colonial home, belonging to the Anderson estate, located on a farm 18 miles northeast of Sedalia, was destroyed by fire about 5:45 o'clock Friday evening. The blaze started when an oil stove in the kitchen of the large home exploded.

Occupying the home were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Rennison, tenants.

The entire house and contents were completely destroyed, as the blaze gained headway before anything could be carried out.

The house was built in 1860, on land owned by the Anderson family since 1820. Five generations have lived in the house which was made from native lumber hewn on the place, with weatherboarding and other wood hauled from Arrow Rock by oxen.

America Must Be Vigilant To Wage Peace

"Loose Talk" Is Causing Fear In Hearts Of People

ST. LOUIS, April 6—(AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Fred M. Vinson tonight urged military preparedness for America in the interest of world peace and criticized "loose talk" which he said had caused "fear in the hearts of the peoples of the world."

Vinson declared in a speech prepared for a Jackson day dinner here that America must wage peace with the same vigor it waged war, and added:

"Being ever vigilant to wage a total peace includes military preparedness against war. We seek preparedness not because we are pessimistic. x x x We know we must seek and employ every means to wage a total peace.

"A strong United States is a significant part of the program that makes more possible a lasting peace. The international hoodlum may be deterred in his nefarious plans if the consequences are written in plain language."

Wondering Out Loud

The treasury secretary said that many persons "of little faith, or by design, are wondering out loud whether the end of this war is only an armistice of armed conflict by a crippled and exhausted world."

"I reject utterly and completely," he said, "the notion that the people of our nation have any justifiable ground for fear."

The proposed financial agreement with Great Britain, now awaiting action by congress, was described by Vinson as "an essential and integral part" of the administration's program for international economic cooperation.

"The financial agreement will open markets in England and many other countries to our exporters," he said. "This means more exports for our farmers and manufacturers and manufacturers, more jobs for our workers, more profits for business, and a higher income for all of our people."

3 Children Burn To Death

KANSAS CITY, April 6—(AP)—Three children were fatally burned early today in a blaze which swept a rooming house occupied by 26 persons.

It was Kansas City's second major fire disaster this year. Eleven persons were killed in an apartment building fire Jan. 27.

The three who died today were children of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Ballew, who had quarters in the attic with their family of seven. Ballew saved his wife and other children by taking them to a second floor window where there was a wooden fire escape to the ground. The three who died: Martha Ann, 7; Harvey, 5, and Herbert, Jr., 13, tried to escape down the blazing corridor which led to the ground floor.

One daughter, Loretta, 11, suffered a fractured ankle in jumping to the second floor roof and was saved by a 14 year old boy who climbed a slender tree nearby and brought her to the ground.

Other residents of the house escaped without injury.

Fire Chief John J. Nee of No. 5 station, said it was believed the fire started when a kerosene lamp used as a night light on the second floor overturned and ignited the carpet.

Bridge Club At White House

By Elizabeth Toomey

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., April 6—(AP)—The Tuesday bridge club is meeting at the White House this week, ladies, and whoops! It's the biggest thing that's happened since one of the 20-year members became first lady of the nation.

Bess Truman's invitation to the ten other members of her bridge club two weeks ago to come visit at the White House set the girls agog. The entire membership accepted with alacrity.

But nobody had a thing to wear.

"When they (the local merchants) heard I was going to be a guest of Mrs. Truman, some of them even sent off for clothing I needed to complete my outfit," excitedly remarked Mrs. Mize Peters, wife of a United States treasury representative in this area.

Most of the ten have been to Washington before, but only three have been White House guests.

The club hasn't met the past two weeks. They've been too busy shoping.

"I'm so excited I don't know if my nerves will stand it," exclaimed Mrs. John Hutchison. "I've been shopping almost every day. I think I'm ready now, but I don't know how I've done it."

Tokyo Bay Is Hiding Place Of Valuables

Geisha House Tip Leads Americans To Precious Metals

By Frank L. White

TOKYO, April 6—(AP)—A Geisha house tip which found its way into American military government circles led today to the discovery of a large hoard of precious metals hidden in the mid beneath Tokyo Bay.

An informant who saw two truckloads of ingots dumped into the bay last July to conceal them from occupation forces said that Japanese army officers supervising the job had estimated there was 30,000,000,000 yen ($2,000,000,000) worth of gold, silver and platinum in the lot.

While this estimate seemed high for the quantity reported, the actual value of the ingots remained to be determined as occupation authorities disclosed the sensational find.

Lt. E. V. Nielsen of Stamford, Conn., an officer in the 32d military government, located the hidden hoard and himself brought up the first ingot—a 75-pound hunk of platinum.

Led To Spot

Nielsen was led by an informant to the spot where the ingots were dumped off a wharf at a former Japanese maritime school on the Tokyo waterfront.

"I stripped and went down into about six feet of water," Nielsen said "and there, in three or four feet of mud, I could feel two areas—each about 20 feet square—which seemed to be paved with these blocks.

"They are so locked together in the mud that we could not get any more up today, but we will resume operations Monday with diving suits and modern equipment."

The dock area meanwhile has been taken over by armed guards of the 1st cavalry division who are keeping a close watch until recovery is completed.

To Pay Reparations

Officers estimated it would take several days to clean up the cache.

The seized treasure persumably will be held for the payment of reparations, since the circumstances indicate it was government property.

Japanese officers, an informant said, told men who dumped the precious metals that the hoard was "for use in building up a greater Japan after things quiet down."

Some of these officers, Nielsen was informed, recently had been seen near the place of concealment—a fact which frighteend a key witness out of hiding and accelerated the disclosure of vital information to the Americans.

(At Stamford, Conn., Nielsen's mother said she was not "unduly surprised" when informed that her son had located the treasure. He previously had uncovered a fortune in hoarded sugar buried 40 feet beneath a Tokyo basement, she said.)

Spanish Issue Is Now Raised

By Francis W. Carpenter

NEW YORK, April 6—(AP)—The Spanish issue, raised unexpectedly by Poland, seemed likely tonight to be the next problem to plague the United Nations Security Council just when that infant peace agency hoped for a quiet period to put its rules in order.

The Polish embassy in London announced this morning that the Warsaw government had instructed Dr. Oscar Lange, Polish delegate to the Security Council, to lay before the Council the Polish view that the United Nations should break off relations with the government of Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

"The decision of the Polish government was taken in view of the fact that the present regime in Spain is endangering international peace and that peace is indivisible," the embassy announcement said.

Hours after the London announcement, members of the Polish delegation here said Dr. Lange had not received official notice of his government's decision. Jerzy Michalowski, Dr. Lange's advisor, said that in any event there would be no statement before Monday.

Banner Sign Was Not Diplomatic CIO Pickets Learned

PORTLAND, Ore., April 6—(AP)—CIO pickets paraded before the courthouse-urging everyone to walk through the line.

The picket line was an attempt to induce voters to register. Banners carried by the pickets included one which read: "20 beautiful girls waiting to help you register."

That banner upset the clerks inside.

"There are more than 20 of us," one said. "We want to know which ones the CIO thinks aren't beautiful."

Aged Man Hurt In Car Wreck

Joseph C. Shackelford, 89 years old, 1616 West Sixteenth street, is in a serious condition at Bothwell hospital, suffering from injuries received in an automobile accident about noon Saturday. Other occupants in the car escaped injury.

The car, a Buick sedan, driven by Mr. Shackleford's son-in-law, J. L. Dickey, 1616 West Sixteenth street, turned over near the Muddy bridge on North Highway 65. The accident occurred, it was said when the wheels of the car left the highway and went over on the soft shoulder. In getting the car back onto the pavement, it skidded and turned over.

Mr. Shackelford suffered head injuries, cuts on his face, broken nose, and bruises.

Others in the car were: Mrs. J. L. Dickey, daughter of Mr. Shackelford, and Mrs. Semkin, of near Hughesville, Mo.

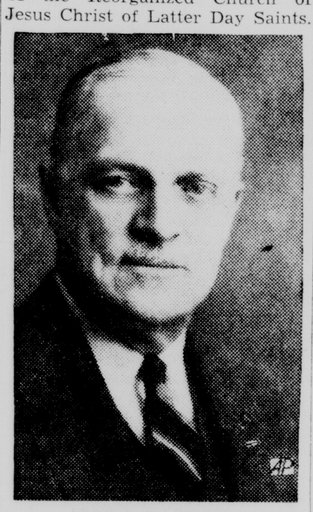

They were enroute to Hannibal to visit with Mr. and Mrs. Dickey's son and family, Raymond Dickey, over the week end.

Dr. John Rodeman, attended Mr. Shackelford.

Israel A. Smith Becomes Head Of LDS Church

Sixty-Three Are Examined At CC Clinic

By Director of Missouri Crippled Children's Service

Sixty-three children who do not have proper use of bones and muscles were examined by Dr. William J. Stewart, director of the Missouri Crippled Children's Service, of Columbia, at the Crippled Children's Clinic, sponsored by the Pettis County Crippled Children's Society, at Bothwell hospital Saturday.

Children recommended for surgical treatment will be sent to the Missouri University hospital, Columbia, while convalescent cases are to be admitted to Blosser Convalescent Home, Marshall.

Tommie Lee Hawkins, one of the 63 children who received examination at the Crippled Children's Clinic, sponsored by the Pettis County Crippled Children's society at Bothwell hospital Saturday.

Supervising the clinic was Miss Anna Bergstrom, orthopaedic field nurse of the State Crippled Children's Service, assisted by Mrs. J. C. Connor, secretary of the county society, Miss Betty Murrell, local school nurse, and Mrs. Elizabeth Guy Janes.

Hospital Attaches Aided

Mrs. B. L. Bradfield, superintendent of nurses of Bothwell hospital, her staff and several doctors were available for assistance throughout the day.

Others present included Mrs. Eva H. Moen, vocational rehabilitation director, Jefferson City; Miss Amelia Myersick of the state society, St Louis; Miss Carlotta Wettach, medical social consultant of the state society, Columbia; Mrs. Viola Heaton Lacer, administrative assistant of the state society, Columbia; Mrs. Dora Clark, field nurse; Miss Marie Tener, superintendent of Blosser Convalescent Home, Marshall, and the Rev. J. Fred King, chairman of the Pettis County Crippled Children's committee.

Mrs. R. R. Highleyman served as registrar, marking her 14th service in this capacity. The P. E. O. women's civic organization provided lunch, the Pettis County Medical Association Auxiliary attended the dressing rooms and staff members of the local Social Security office recorded case histories and assisted in the care of the children.

Crippled children's clinics are held in Sedalia once every two years.

Russians Fortifying The Kurile Islands

LONDON, April 6—(AP)—A special dispatch to the Sunday newspaper, News of the World, under a Sapporo, Japan, dateline, said tonight that the Russians were fortifying the Kurile Islands airfields and that "giant coastal guns" were pointed towards American-controlled Hokkaido.

The disptch by Correspondent A. Noyes Thomas said the information was gleaned from refugees.

Pinned Down Under Tractor

Fred Janes, farmer, was seriously injured about 3 o'clock Friday afternoon when a tractor he was using to plow on the farm of Forrest Poindexter, between Green Ridge and Windsor, overturned on him. He was pinned in a gully for more than two hours.

Janes, it was said was riding the tractor and it went over a ten foot enbankment, overturned and pinned him under it. His calls for help were heard later by Mrs. Poindexter, and neighbors were summoned to assist in extracting him from beneath the machine.

Janes, it was said Saturday, is paralyzed from the waist down. He is being treated by Dr. Walz, of Windsor.

Thousands At SAAF Base Celebration

Julian H. Bagby, Mayor-Elect On Speaking Program

Several thousand Central Missourians attended open house at the Sedalia Army Air Field Saturday, in observance of Army Day. Sedalia's mayor-elect Julian H. Bagby was among the speakers on the program.

The opening address of the afternoon program was given by Col. Julius A. Kolb, commanding officer of the S. A. A. F., which was followed by presentation of awards. Mr. Bagby then spoke, and he was followed by Lt. Col. W. B. Smith, of Warrensburg.

Loud speakers carried the address of President of the United States Harry S. Truman, which was broadcast from Chicago, as part of the Army Day celebration there.

Following the president's address, a glider tow demonstration was held, and then came a program of flying model airplanes, built by various army personnel at the base.

Gates Open At 10:00

The gates were opened at 10 o'clock Saturday morning and at that time cars started streaming into the base. They were directed to a parking lot along the runways. Visitors were permitted to walk over the ground and visit the many exhibits, which included a B-29 bomber, C-47 and C-46 Troop Carrier planes, and other exhibits. For the first time many saw weapons used in the victory over Germany and Japan.

Mr. Bagby in his address said:

"Although I don't want to take but a minute of your time, I am pleased to be given this chance, both as mayor-elect of Sedalia and as an individual business man and citizen, to make this very short and sincere expression of appreciation for what the Sedalia Army Air Field has meant to our community.

Appreciate Cooperation

"While Army Day has implications that go far beyond our local observance, I shall leave that subject to others and confine the few remarks I want to make to our local relations. We appreciate the uniform spirit of cooperation that seems to prevail here whenever any of us in Eedalia have invited you to participate in our local affairs.

"We appreciate what your presence has meant to our business and community life. We appreciate such gestures of good will as are in evidence here today as you have opened your doors to us and have arranged these many interesting displays and informative exhibits for our inspection.

"While you are stationed here, I hope that you will not consider yourselves just as guests and as occasional visitors to Sedalia, but instead that you will think of yourselves as actually being members of our community. We have come to look on the Air Base as a part of us.

"Whenever you may have any suggestions that will enable the city government of Sedalia to serve you better, whenever we may be in a position to return your hospitality, we shall expect you to call upon us."

Memorial Hospital To Governor Stark's Son

LOUISIANA, Mo., April 6—(AP)—Officials of the Pike county hospital said a check received from friends of the late Comdr. L. Stickney Stark will be used as the nucleus of a fund to establish a hospital memorial to the son of former Governor Lloyd C. Stark. The amount of the check was not disclosed.

Truman Calls For Strong Peacetime Military Reserves

Mayor Kelly Gives Medal To Truman

CHICAGO, April 6—(AP)—President Truman, receiving a Chicago medal today for service to his counrty, lauded this Illinois city as the nation's "bread basket" which he said would keep the world from starvation.

Mayor Edward J. Kelly presented the medal to the president at a civic luncheon, calling Mr. Truman a "sturdy oak" who is bringing the United States "out of chaos."

Smiling, the president said he had pinned medals on war heroes ever since the close of the war, "and it is a pleasure to me to have a medal pinned on Harry Truman."

"I hope I deserve it," he said.

Others who receitved medals from Mayor Kelly at the brief ceremony in the Blackstone hotel included General Dwight D. Eisenhower, chief of staff; War Secretary Robert P. Patterson; Treasury Secretary Fred M. Vinson; Fleet Admiral William D. Leahy, the president's chief of staff, and General Carl Spattz, chief of the Army Air Forces.

Renews Appeal For Extension Selective Service Act In Army Day Address

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

CHICAGO, April 6—(AP)—Presidnt Truman proclaimed today a "universal" American foreign policy aimed at stopping "coercion and penetration" of the weak and calling for powerful peace-time military reserves.

Speaking at an Army day celebration in Soldier Field, where he renewed his appeal for extension of the Selective Service Act, unification of the armed forces and a universal training program, the President declared that:

1. One "universal" policy must guide United States relations with every country, "no matter how remote"

2. In return for American recognition of "important interests" of Great Britain and Russia and others in the Orient, these countries must respect her interest in peace and security in that area. The United States, he added, "shall expect them to pursue" the same peaceful objectives.

Must Not Threaten

3. The United Nations have a right to insist that the sovereignty and integrity of the countries of the Near and Middle East where outside rivalries might "erupt into conflict" must not be threatened by coercion or penetration.

4. The United States hopes "for the peaceful settlement of differences which have arisen between colonial people and colonial sovereigns in all areas."

5. The United Nations Security Council "is fully capable" of settling disputes between any nations of the world, however different their philosophies, traditions and interests, if it respects "the legitimate aspirations and needs" of fellow members.

6. "The United States intends to join with the other sovereign republics of America in a regional pact to provide a common defense against attack."

Support United Nations

Using some of the strongest language he has ever employed in discussing America's new global foreign policy, Mr. Truman declared its immediate objective "is to support the United Nations to the utmost."

This country stands ready, he added, to provide necessary support for a world trade system to "strengthen and safeguard the peace."

The President, after reviewing a parade of army might, said universal training, a year's extension of the draft and unification of the armed forces are "the foundation stones which hold the promise of a strong nation."

"They are essential if we are to maintain our leadership on the road to peace and freedom," he said.

Must Remain Strong

If the country is to carry out its new world-wide obligations to support the "peace and freedom" that are "the very rot of our foreign policy," the President said, "we remain strong." Asserting this is America's duty under its United Nations membership, he added:

"We can not on one day proclaim our intention to prevent unjust aggression and oppression in the world and the next day call for immediate scrapping of our military might."

The President said that the United States today is "a strong nation; there is none stronger" and that its strength requires it to "assume leadership and accept responsibility."

"It would be a tragic breach of national duty and international faith if, consciously or carelessly, we permitted ourselves ever to be unprepared to fulfill that responsibility" he said.

The army, he continued, can be "continuously and adequately supplied for another year only by the Selective Service Act."

Either we must keep men abroad whose service entitles them to return home or "we shall turn our backs upon the enemy before the victory is finally assured," he said, and added his assurance that congress will not choose either alternative.

Explains Universal Training

Universal training, Mr. Truman said, will not bring any youth into the army or navy in time of peace, but will assure that each individual is trained "to take his place if war unhappily should ever come again."

"No one knows yet what would be needed in terms of infantry, artillery, pilots, planes, rockets or bombs "in the atomic age," he continued, but modern war calls for "the total mobilization of all men and all energies."

"Next time—if there must be a next time—we are likely to be the first target," Mr. Truman said.

Smith-Cotton Ranks Sixth

Sam Highleyman, representing Smith-Cotton in the state tournament of the National Forensic League held at the Missouri Valley College Friday and Saturday, placed second in the Oratorical contest. His oration was "Vision Beyond Victory". Jeanne Handley and Frank Urban were eliminated in the semi-finals. Smith-Cotton placed sixth among the 18 schools represented. There were approximately two-hundred students taking part in the contest.

The trophy that is presented to the first place school each year went to Independence.

The various contests were; Debate, extemporaneous speaking, original oration, humorous declamation, oratorical declamation, dramatic declamation. Smith-Cotton was represented by Mary Sue Monsees, G. B. Thompson, Almeda Albertson, Kenneth Hunt, Rosalie Marshall, Joe Potts and Jeanne Callis.

Next Friday four students will go to Warrensburg to participate in the contest sponsored by the recently reorganized Missouri Speech Association. These students are: Sam Highleyman, Kenneth Hunt, Jean Hulse, and Rosalie Marshall.

Seventy-Seven Hurt In Wreck

SAN FRANCISCO, April 6—(AP)—Headquarters of the Western Pacific railroad today issued a list of seventy-seven persons injured in last night's wreck of the Exposition Flyer, at Pilot, Nev.

"Many of those listed suffered very minor injuries," the company said. The list did not state specific injuries received by each person, nor state which were hospitalized.

The list of injured, compiled by special agents of the railroad, included:

Mike J. Kelly, Steele, Mo.

Robert Mcilvin, St. Louis, Mo.

Mrs. Robert Mcilvin, St. Louis, Mo.

Ronald Mcilvin (son), St. Louis, Mo.

James Nicholas, Jefferson City, Mo.

Paul R. Nunn, Nevada, Mo.

Recessed Meeting Of Council

There will be a recessed meeting of the City council, Mayor A. H. Wilks presiding, at 7:30 o'clock Monday night in the city hall.

The following Monday, on April 15, the Council will meet, transact any business coming up, then adjourn sine die, and the new Council, composed of a newly elected mayor, four newly elected councilmen, one re-elected, and the four hold-over councilmen, will meet and organize.

'Brain Kids' Fool The Sheriff

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., April 6—(AP)—As he passed the cell where three youths were held in the county jail, Sheriff Erwin Kubath said one of the self-styled "brain kids" called to him:

"Hi, sheriff; if we can break out of here will you let us go?"

Amused, the sheriff replied:

"We've had some pretty tough customers in that cell, but if you think you can get out, go ahead and try."

With the sheriff looking on, the boys went to work with a large nail produced by one and a piece of wood that came from under the bunk.

The door of the cell was pried loose and the trio looked solemnly at the sheriff, whose smile had disappeared.

The sheriff sent for deputies and had the door reinstalled, leaving the boys still on the inside looking out.

Belfast Girl Joins Husband In Sedalia

Mrs. Emmett Bagby Came Over On "Brides' Boat"

Mrs. Emmett E. Bagby, Jr., born and reared in Belfast, Ireland, and married there to Mr. Bagby, of Sedalia, two years and three months ago, arrived in Sedalia last Monday, and the couple is temporarily residing with Mr. Bagby's parents, at 916 South Vermont avenue.

Mrs. Bagby, the former Miss Lucinda Watson, came over on a "brides' boat" and was met in New York by Mr. Bagby, who had been returned to this country about seven months ago, and since that time been released from the army.

Stopped Enroute Home

They visited in New York, then went to Devon, Pa., where they spent five days with relatives, on to Mount Sterling, Ky., to visit Mr. Bagby's grandmother's aunt, Mrs. Belle Rice. In Mount Sterling they were joined for the return trip home, by Mr. Bagby's grandmother, Mrs. Ida S. Bagby, 1001 West Broadway, who had been visiting there. Enroute to Sedalia they stopped for short visits with relatives in St. Louis and Alton, Ill.

Although this is Mrs. Bagby's first time in America she is perfectly at home, and though reading is familiar with the country and its customs. She speaks with no brough, has a keen sense of humor, and knows she is going to be very happy here.

Feels Sorry For Those Starving

"I expect to be homesick," she said, "in fact I've already been home sick, or I'll say lovesick because I think I'm just lonesome for my mother."

"You Americans," said Mrs. Bagby, "have so much to be thankful for. You have so much food, it almost makes me sick when I think of the starving people in Europe In the British Isles everything is rationed, but with strict rationing I have never been hungry and I'd have been willing to have undergone more stringent rationing to help save food for those who were starving in other countries."

Last week Mr. and Mrs. Bagby spent a few days in Kansas City. The plaza district, she states, is one of the most attractive places she has seen since her arrival in the country.

Mrs. Bagby has already met and made friends with numerous Sedalians.

Goal Of $3,000 By May First

The fund for Cpl. William C. Eckles sponsored by the War Mothers club No. 2, has now reached $2,712. 49 and the club hopes that it will be able to close the campaign the first of May with a sum of $3,000.

At a meeting of the War Mothers' club No. 2, at the armory this week, it was moved and seconded that the campaign for this very worthy fund be completed by the close of the meeting year, so that a board of trustees may be set up.

Anyone wishing to contribute to the fund may take or send their donation to the Chamber of Commerce or to Mrs. A. Maxwell, treasurer.

The committee in charge of the fund is composed of Mrs. A. J. Gregory, chairman: Mrs. Leo Eickhoff, publicity; Mrs. A. Maxwell treasurer and Mrs. P. L. Strole.

Cpl. Eckles, who is a patient at the O'Reilly hospital in Springfield, is spending this week-end at home.

Insurance Men Met Saturday

Two sound films were presented at a meeting of the Sedalia Life Underwriters Association at noon Saturday at Hotel Bothwell. William L. Reed, president, presided.

Hal Coonrod, immediate past president of the Springfield association, now conducting a general agency at Warrensburg, was introduced as a member on transfer from Springfield. A. L. Hawkins and William F. Smith were introduced as new members, and James B. Willis of Warrensburg was also added to the membership.

The films, "Yours Truly, Ed Graham" and "American Portrait," have been shown during the last week in Sedalia and surrounding towns before civic groups and in local high schools. It was voted to send a letter of appreciation to Pinkney Miller and R. M. Ryckman, of the Smith-Cotton high school faculty, who showed the films throughout the week for the Underwriters.

Repeal Of Poll Tax Will Be Up To States

CHICAGO, April 6—(AP)—In what appeared to be a peace offering to militant southern Democrats in congress, President Truman today disclosed the view that repeal of the poll tax, must be left up to the states.

His pronouncement—one of the most controversial issues ever tackled by congress came unexpectedly at a news conference he held for Chicago high school journalists.

Sedalia Schools Observe Arbor Day, Plant Trees

Arbor Day was observed in Sedalia by the Junior Garden clubs by planting trees at the various schools in memory of the boys who gave their lives in the service of their country. A bottle, in which the names of the boys were sealed were placed at the root of each tree planted.

Mrs. Arthur Glang, State Junior Garden chairman, was a special guest at the Arbor Day program of Friday afternoon at Jefferson school which is sponsored by Circle No. 3, and told of how Arbor Day originated.

"The idea of setting apart one day each year for planting trees came from a man who lived on the treeless plains of Nebraska, J. Sterling Morton, and realizing what value, beauty and comfort spaces of his state, he persuaded the authorities of Nebraska to proclaim the first Arbor Day, April 22,, 1872. Arbor Day is now observed in most states. The date varies, depending on the climate. The aim is to promote tree planting and care, to arouse interest in forest improvement and protection from fire."

Jefferson School Program

The program at Jefferson school was at 4:00 o'clock Friday afternoon at which time about thirty guests were welcomed by Miss Rowena Patterson, in the absence of E. T. Martin, principal, who is ill.

Mrs. L. H. Hodges, chairman of Circle No. 3, spoke to the group and presented Mrs. Klang.

The hard maple tree was planted with a ceremony outlined by the State commission. Those who took part in the planting were Nellie Slosser, the elected queen, Betty Lou Watson, Paul Lane, J. D. Wells, Joetta Jones, Billy Joe Pirtle and Georgia Burnett.

Following the ceremony the guests were served punch and cookies by the Junior club which has a membership of twenty-two.

The tea table was covered with a lace cloth with a centerpiece of lilacs and pale yellow candles.

Broadway Program

Broadway school held its ceremony at 3:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon at which time the entire school was dismissed.

Miss Edyth Couey, principal, welcomed the guests.

There were no trees needed at Broadway, so a red spirea was planted that blooms all summer. The program opened with the children singing "America,," directed by Miss Florence Hert, music instructor. Beverly Miller assocpanied on the violin.

Mrs. Frank S. Leach, regional director, told the story of Arbor Day.

The shrub was planted by Jerry Sims, who told what trees flowers and schrubs mean to us; Sandra Ryan, who told of other beauties of nature and what they do for us; Dickie Rucker, told what effect these things have on people and Carol Kriesler told how we should appreciate these things.

The ceremony closed with the singing of "God Bless America." Miss Lelia Shortridge, Mrs. W. W. Blain and Mrs. Harvey Keens were representing Circle No. 1.

Whittier Program

Whittier school had its ceremony at 10:30 o'clock Thursday morning. All the Junior club recited the Nature creed and other quotations were given about trees.

The Fourth grade sang Joyce Kilmer's "Trees".

The pledge to trees was given and the tree planted.

Miss Catherine Carman, principal, gave a tribute in memory of the boys who died in service from Whittier.

Planting the tree were Billy Wooster and Lester Wolfrum.

The Whittier school club is sponsored by Circle No. 4 with a number of the club attending. Miss Ora Stevens of the Garden club also spoke.

Mark Twain Program

The tree at Mark Twain school was planted by Donald Lee Bennett, Lanny Ross, Billy Gilbert and Gordon Herman at 11:30 o'clock Thursday morning.

Nancy Cook read the poem, "Trees" and the entire school gave the pledge to the trees and their protection.

Raymond Peterson, principal of the school. welcomed the guests.

Circle No. 5, sponsors the Mark Twain club.

Washington Program

Washington school, sponsored by Circle 6, had its ceremony with the following children taking part, Illene Moon, Dickie Dillon, David Lingle, Gary Cox, Violet Hoehns, Patti Jo Cramer, Margaret Cook. Donald Stratton, Albert Lee Pringle and George Phifer.

Miss Marion Smith accompanied on the violin as the fifth grade sang: "Trees."

Rev. Ralph Emerson Hurd made a talk in which he said to be content with little things. He told how the small seed would grow to a tall tree and when the tree stops growing it dies. That is like people, he said, when they stop growing in spirit they die. He said he knew a woman 80 years old who was still young because she kept an interest in the things about her.

All grades then gave the pledge to the trees.

Horace Mann Program

Arbor day was observed at Horace Mann school by planting a magnolia tree on the Sixteenth street boulevard.

Mrs. L. J. Harned read from the Missouri statues portions pertaining to the observation of Arbor Day after which was repeated in unison the pledge to the flag.

Richard Smith, grade 4, read Joyce Kilmer's "Trees."

The names of the boys who died in service from Horace Mann school were sealed in a bottle and placed at the root of the tree by Mrs. Frank Johnson, who had taught all of them.

The Horace Mann club is sponsored by Circle No. 2, with Mrs. L. W. Satorius in charge.

At the conclusion of the planting program Mrs. Herbert Seifert president of the Sedalia Garden Club, spoke on the continuance of an active Junior Garden club throughout the coming years.

Mrs. A. L. Pringle was chairman for the city Arbor Day program and was also regional chairman for eleven counties.

Chrisman High Won Trophy In Tournament

Also Won Leading Character Award; 18 Schools Take Part

MARSHALL, Mo., April 6—(AP)—William Chrisman high school of Independence won the team trophy in the sixteenth annual tournament of the Missouri division of the National Forensic League held the last two days at Missouri Valley College. The school also won the leading character prize.

The distinguished service award went to Jennings high school of St. Louis county.

Eighteen schools sent 130 contestants to the tournament.

Team second place was awarded to Maplewood-Richmond Heights of St. Louis county, and third to St. Louis University high school of St. Louis.

Jennings won first in debate and was represented by William Robertson, Stanley Lark, Gordon Parks and Evelyn Parks. Second place in debate went to William Chrisman and third to Maplewood-Richmond Heights.

Swede and Swift

Lennart Strand, Sweden's best distance runner since Gunder Hagg and Arne Andersson were declared professionals, leads in Stockholm Stadium race as usual. He will be favored to repel Leslie MacMitchell and other American milers in National A.A.U. meet in San Antonio, June 28-29.

Additional Society

Miss Betty Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Detmer, 616 East Twelfth street, was pleasantly surprised with a party in honor of her eighteenth birthday anniversary at the home of Miss Mary Joe Vilmer, 1012 East Tenth street, Saturday night.

The diversion of the evening, following a dessert supper, was bridge. The table was decorated with a centerpiece of spring flowers.

Guests included Misses Dorothy Knerl, Norma Jean Percival and Mary Frances Schilb. Out-of-town guests were Misses Tamar Holliway and Sue Angle of Balboa, Calif., weekend guests of Miss Anderson, and Peggy Stalker of Denver, Colo., a guest of Miss Vilmer.

Among the honoree's surprises was a long distance telephone call from her brother, James E. Anderson, A. O. M. 2/c, who wished her a happy birthday and informed her that he had just landed in the States, at San Francisco, Saturday. He said he expected to be home within the coming week.

Awards in the bridge game were received by Miss Knerl, high score, and Miss Percival for consolation.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Knapp, 1809 South Barrett avenue, entertained at a 6 o'clock dinner Friday evening in honor of Seaman 1/c Milton C. Danley, who was recently discharged from the navy.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Danley and son, Donnie, Mr. and Mrs. Milford Danley and daughter, Althea, Mrs. Fern Danley, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Alfrey and children Gaylon, Sandra, Mickie and Richard Dean, Tressia and Melvin Knapp.

Milford Danely was employed in Columbia before entering service, and with his family will return there soon.

Demonstration On Mending

The April meeting of Stokley Extension club was held at the home of Mrs. Jess Kindle, who was hostess of a covered dish luncheon.

Each member recounted something she had observed on her way to the meeting in answer to roll call. Mrs. Forrest Winston led the devotional service.

A short Easter program was presented. Mrs. Lillian Calwell reported achievements of the 4-H club, of which she is leader, and displayed some of the members' work. Miss Ruby Kindle read the club letter, which was followed by the news letter read by Mrs. Guy Ballew.

A mending, patching and darning demonstration was given by Miss Lillie Koelling, Mrs. Forrest Winston and Miss Ada French.

Mrs. Mona Hoke took to the meeting a bouquet of bluebells, the club flower.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Henry Koelling.

'Beeper' Pilots Robot Plane in First Test of Instrument Ships For Atomic Bomb Trials

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

ROSWELL ARMY AIR BASE, N. M.—Lt. Col. Thomas C. Kelly, of Oklahoma City, sat comfortably in the big B-17, with a small control box between his knees.

The ship aboard which he flew was a "mother" ship. The control box, about the size of a shoe kit, made it possible for him to maneuver another B-17 robot "drone" ship through the air.

I sat in the nose of the mother ship to witness the first public demonstration of the Air Force's radio-piloted Flying Forts which will be used in the A-bomb tests in the Pacific in May. These planes will be flown close to the blast to record scientific data.

We circled the field twice before picking up the drone. Radio-equipped jeeps raced down the runaway and got the robot ship into the air. Our mother ship was about 500 feet above and a mile behind it.

All-Glass Nose

The drone was sent down the runway as a safety measure. A pilot was aboard to take over if the radio control should fail. The jeep radioed: "Ground to air. Take over, Kelly." Kelly replied: "I've got it."

Kelly's control box had four keys and 10 lights. One of the keys is the equivalent of a control stick. It is called the "beeper." Tapping it moves the controls on the drone, and its name comes from the "beep" sound that issues from the radio.

The nose of the mother ship is all glass, to permit the pilot to keep an eye on the drone constantly. The robot plane can be controlled within a 30-mile radius.

The mother B-17 kept slightly above the drone. Kelly brought the robot ship within 100 feet of our plane—close enough to see the safety pilot wave. We circled the field four times. Kelly buzzed the field with the drone several times. We never got more than a mile away from it.

I asked Kelly to make the robot ship bank, turn, and climb. He was able to do so easily. The safety pilot periodically checked altitude and speed with Kelly. On a set of instruments next to him, Kelly could obtain a duplicate reading of the drone's instrument panel. We later learned that the safety pilot didn't touch the controls once during the test.

Then came the order to land the robot. This is the toughest part of the whole operation.

Landing a B-17 drone was tried for the first time just two weeks ago. This was to be the fifteenth attempt.

Safe Landing

Kelly took the drone about four miles away from the runway for a long approach. Our mother plane got above and directly behind to enable Kelly to line it up with the landing strip. The field called to Kelly to wait, because there was a strong cross wind.

Our plane throttled down. The robot B-17 seemed to drop too quickly as it came to the runway. Kelly lowered its wheels. He leaned far over the control box to get a better view of the drone.

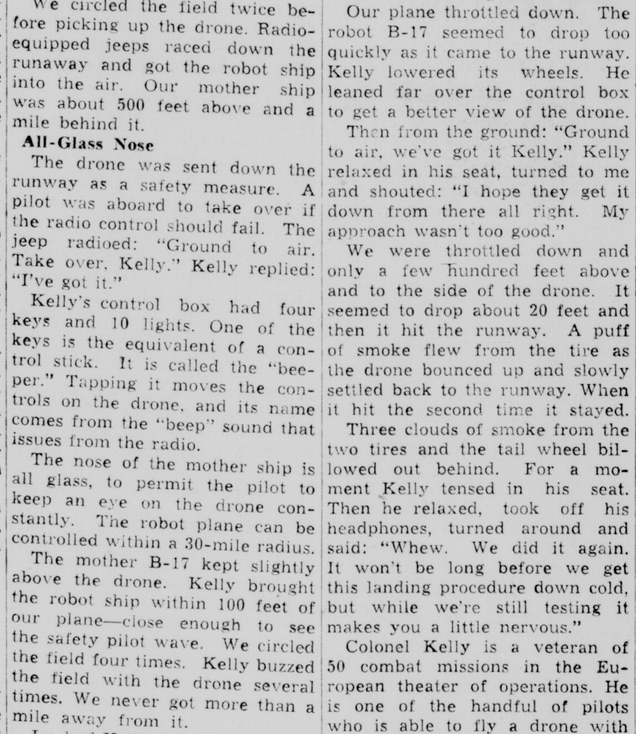

Then from the ground: "Ground to air, we've got it Kelly." Kelly relaxed in his seat, turned to me and shouted: "I hope they get it down from there all right. My approach wasn't too good."

We were throttled down and only a few hundred feet above and to the side of the drone. It seemed to drop about 20 feet and then it hit the runway. A puff of smoke flew from the tire as the drone bounced up and slowly settled back to the runway. When it hit the second time it stayed.

Three clouds of smoke from the two tires and the tail wheel billowed out behind. For a moment Kelly tensed in his seat. Then he relaxed, took off his headphones, turned around and said: "Whew. We did it again. It won't be long before we get this landing procedure down cold, but while we're still testing it makes you a little nervous."

Colonel Kelly is a veteran of 50 combat missions in the European theater of operations. He is one of the handful of pilots who is able to fly a drone with the "beeper."

The Army does not plan to put a drone into the air without a safety pilot until the actual day of the A-bomb test over Bikini Island.

Duo-Pianists Artists For Final Concert

Of Sedalia Symphony Orchestra At High School April 29

Johnson and Milliken, gifted duo-pianists, have been signed as guest artists for the final concert of the season by the Sedalia Symphony orchestra to be presented on Monday night, April 29, at the Smith-Cotton high school auditorium, I. H. Reed, chairman of the artists' committee, has announced.

Richard Johnson and David Milliken have been playing two pianos since their undergraduate days at the University of Michigan where they received both their bachelor's and master's degrees.

Still in their twenties they have been heard extensively, and their recitals have received enthusiastic response from both audiences and critics.

Combined Talents

They were pupils of John Kollen and Guy Maier, and have been members of Artur Schnabel's Master classes in Ann Arbor. It was at the suggestion of Mr. Maier, of the famous Maier-Pattison concert team, that they combined their talents in a career as duo-pianists and coached with him at the Juilliard School of Music in New York.

Currently Johnson and Milliken are instructing in piano at Stephens college, Columbia, where they have been this school year in order that they might be together and practice preparatory to going on the professional concert stage.

To Use Steinway Pianos

Arrangements have been made for two Steinway concert grand pianos to be brought down for the concert from Jenkins Music company in Kansas City.

A meeting of the board of directors of the Sedalia Symphony society was held Friday afternoon in the Chamber of Commerce offices, with Harry Lindstrom, president, presiding. Following the transaction of routine business the board voted to entertain members of the orchestra immediately following the April 29 concert, along with the guest artists, at the Sedalia Country club. Each member may bring one guest.

This party will replace the picnic given by the board at the close of every season for the orchestra players in appreciation of their voluntary services.

Club Women Make Cookies

The April meeting of Sunny Side Homemakers club was held at the home of Mrs. A. G. Billingsley, whose assistant hostess was Mrs. H. D. Hankins.

A dinner was served at noon to 19 members and guests.

During the business session conducted by Mrs. Clarence Dow, the organization of Sunny Side 4-H club was reported. The girls' leader is Mrs. William Ward and the Boys' leader Charles Ralff.

The month's friendship offering was donated to the Cpl. Eckles fund. Twenty-four dozen homebaked cookies were sent by the club to supply the USO cooky jar.

Mrs. J. S. Driskell demonstrated quick and easy mending methods.

Guests were Mrs. O. Bruce and Mrs. M. J. McCrary and daughter.

The May meeting will be at the home of Mrs. John Fowler.

Missionary Is Visiting Here

Miss Valborg Frandsen, who has just come to the United States from India where she was a missionary for more than twenty years, is the guest of Miss Edna Broyles, 1802 South Summit street. Miss Broyles, who was also a missionary for six years, and Miss Frandsen were friends in India.

Miss Frandsen will be the guest speaker at the Church of the Open Bible on Tuesday evening.

After a visit in the United States Miss Frandsen will go to Denmark, her native country. For three years she had no word of her relatives in that country, during the occupation by the Germans, but she has since learned that they are safe.

Postpone Sugar Refineries Strike

WASHINGTON, April 6—(AP)—AFL and CIO unions postponed tonight at least until late Monday a threatened strike at seven east coast sugar refineries which process 70 per cent of the nation's cane sugar.

The postponement was made at the request of government conciliators who proposed submission of the union demands for a 15-cent hourly wage increase to a fact finding panel. The companies have offered a 13 cent per hour increase.

St. Joseph Woman Becomes Constable

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., April 6—(AP)—Miss Margaret Young, who was Missouri's first woman assistant attorney general, today became the first woman to hold the office of constable here.

Formerly chief deputy in the office, she was appointed by the county court today to succeed Louie Silverman, who resigned after 10 years service

MORE USED FAT MEANS MORE SOAP

American housewives perform an invaluable service to the well being of all of us when they save and turn in used fat to help make laundry soap

Soap consumption has increased enormously during the past few years as a result of the large increase in urban populations. City dirt requires more soap to remove it than the dust and mud on the farm. City people scrub to get clean while their country cousins scrub to stay clean.

The disinfectant and antiseptic qualities of soap are necessary for bodily health and well-being. A clean, well scrubbed house is essential to prevent the spreading of germs. Every housewife needs the laundry soap her used fat helps make, and industry will gladly supply her if she and her sisters will continue to save enough used fat to account for 10% of the domestic grease and tallow production, as they did during war years.

Injured When Blocks Fall

TULSA, Okla., April 6—(AP)—Two men were unconscious and critically injured and a third man was in a hospital seriously hurt tonight as a result of a crushing fall of cement paving blocks in a highway accident near here

Critically injured were John V. Downey, Muscatine, Ia., (101 E. Front St.); and Albert Ham, St. Louis, who, state trooper Taylor Lain said, were trapped when a head-on crash when the truck sent its load of cement blocks onto the auto, caving it in.

Joe S. Shubert, Miami, Okla., (118½ J St., N. W.) driver of the truck was hospitalized with a fractured pelvic bone and other injuries, Lain said.

Lain said the collision occurred when the truck driver attempted to pass an unidentified motor scooter rider and was unable to do so.

WAC Officer To Leave Army

First Lieut. Ruby Stovall, wife of James Stovall and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Johnston, 1221 East Seventh street, is to receive her military discharge the first of the week at San Antonio, Tex., after more than five years' duty with the army nurse corps.

For the past year, Lieut. Stovall has been stationed at Ft. Sam Houson, Tex., and on duty at the Brooks General hospital, San Antonio. She spent a furlough in Sedalia about a year ago to recover from illness contracted during 32 months' service in Australia, New Guinea and the South Pacific islands.

After receiving her discharge, Lieut. Stovall will visit a friend in Corpus Christi, Tex., her husband's relatives in Abilene, Tex., a friend in New York and will then go to the Johnston home to visit her parents.

'Rent" Water

J. D. Jouison-Craufurd, baird of Braehead, pays annually to the British crown a basin and an ewer of clean water as rent for his lands.

Rapid Wearers

The U. S. Bureau of Standards has a machine that tests the wearing qualities of carpets and rugs. It gives them as much wear in a few minutes as they would receive in years of normal use.

Red Cross Notes

Chapter interest this past week was centered on the Red Cross display at the Sedalia Army Air Field. Together with our adjoining Chapter, Johnson county, members of the Gray Lady Corps were on duty, the following representing Pettis county: Mrs. J. F. Downs, Miss Della Jones, Mrs. Joe Menefee and Mrs. Harley Vaughan. Miss Marian Keens put a lot of time and effort, most successfully, into a production chart. Miss Agnes Quin was in charge of Surgical Dressings, an arrangement which showed virtually all the dressings and bandages which have been produced in such enormous quantities by Miss Quinn's department since before Pearl Harbor. Mrs. George Dryden planned a "fashion show" of all the sewed garments now in process of production, thus giving the onlookers a good idea of some of the post-war activities of the Red Cross. Mrs. John C. McLaughlin was in charge of the knitting display.

Speaking of sewed garments, we wish that it were possible for everyone to see the scuffs and bedroom slippers that have been made by Mrs. Dryden and her Volunteers, from material left over from the last Kit bag program. These have been skillfully fashioned and are perfect in every detail and will eventually be sent to Army and Vet hospitals, wherever the need is greatest.

ATTENTION, NURSE AIDES! We have just received the following letter from the Area office, and it should be of interest to you all: "We have at hand your letter of March 21 advising us that the Nurse's Aides of Pettis county Chapter will become a reserve unit. The Red Cross volunteer nurse Aides in your Chapter are to be commended for their loyalty and devotion during the war time emergency, and we know the Chapter is appreciative of the service they have rendered. We are glad to know that a reserve unit will be maintained. We are sure that you plan to retain an adequate and responsible Nurses' Aide committee to administer the work of the reserve unit, and we suggest that the corps members plan to hold meetings at regular intervals. A splendid way of showing appreciation for the service rendered by the Nurse Aide Corps can be shown by presenting them with certificates attesting faithful and meritorious service, as well as the insignia or service ribbon bars for which they may qualify. All nurse aides who have given 200 hours of volunteer service since January 1, 1940, are eligible for these awards. We shall be glad to send you certificates and insignia if you desire. Please express to each member of the Nurse Aide corps our appreciation for the invaluable work they have done, as well as for the time and energy they have expended.

The certificates and insignia have already been presented to the Nurse Aides of Pettis county. We should like to add here, that in order to maintain their reserve status the Aides must give 50 hours a year of volunteer service. This they are doing, working at the Bothwell on a regular schedule.

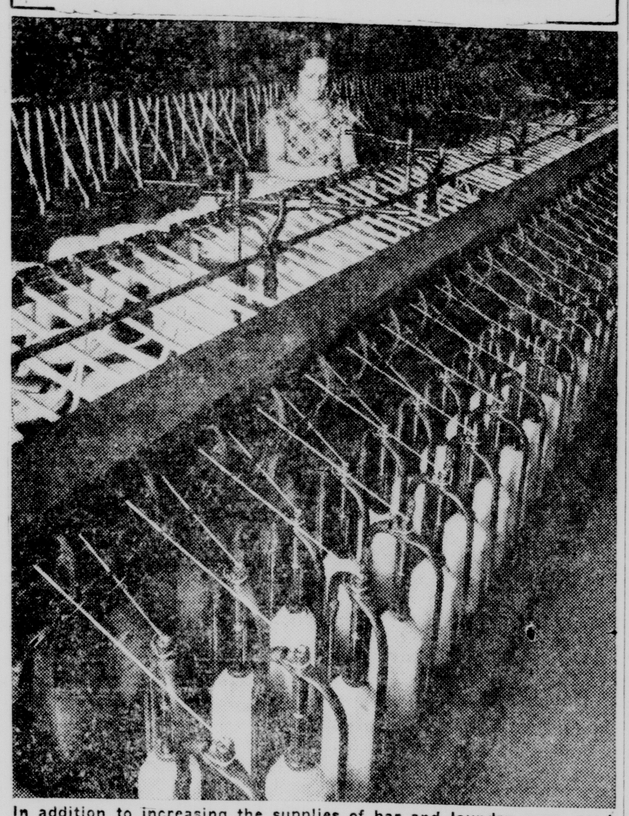

Likes Rabbits

The chief food of the fisher is rabbit meat, which the animal procures either by running the rabbits down, or by stalking them cat-fashion. Even the bristling porcupine is not safe from this little killer, which seems to be immune to the ill effects of porcupine quills.

Keeping Above Water

Much of the area of Holland is 15 feet below sea level. For this reason, the, windmills must be kept going almost constantly to precent the land from flooding.

FAT HELPS PRODUCTION

In addition to increasing the supplies of bar and laundry soap, used cooking fat greases the wheels of many other industries. Here, at the J. & P. Coats Co., Pawtucket, R. I., fats and oils help produce greater quantities of cotton thread. Every pound of used cooking fat turned over to the meat dealer goes into industry and relieves strain on edible fats, allowing more to be distributed abroad.

Ernest Lee Sutherlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Sutherlin, 1217 East Thirteenth street, is ill with pneumonia at his home.

Soap Coming Up!

That pound can of used cooking fat is the makings of one large box of packaged soap for Benay Venuta, radio singer. Benay knows that if she wants more soap, she has to use and reuse and finally turn over to the meat dealer her cooking fat. It's worth 4 cents per pound.

Norman Lees Has Release

Pfc. Norman O. Lees, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Lees, Twelfth street and Marshall avenue, recently received his army discharge at the Ft. Leavenworth, Kas., separation center under the adjusted service rating plan.

Lees, who served 28 months in Japan and the States as flight chief with the Fifth Fighter air force, was awarded the European-Asiatic-Pacific theater of operations ribbon, Good Conduct medal, American theater ribbon and Victory ribbon.

Before entering the army November 23, 1943, he was employed at the North American Aviation company, Kansas City, Kas.

Lees' wife, the former Miss Bonita Cox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Cox of Ralston, Okla., has been making her home in Kansas City.

Home After Operation

Mrs. A. Seifner, of Sedalia route 4, has been dismissed from St. Mary's hospital, Kansas City, where she underwent a thyroid operation. She is getting along nicely.

Heavy Interest

Out of every $100 received as wages and salaries in the United States, approximately $25 is paid out in charges on borrowed money, according to estimates.

Dr. C. Labahn Has Unusual Type Hospital

"The latest use for a quonset hut is the animal hospital that Dr. Charles D. Labahn, veterinarian, is building," states a recent issue of a Fort Smith, Ark., newspaper, and accompanying the article is a picture of the new type of building to be used for an animal hospital.

Dr. Labahn, who served as a major in the army, and was released some time ago, is a son of Mrs. Margaret Labahn, 1609 South Moniteau avenue, Sedalia.

Concerning the building the Fort Smith paper continues:

"The hospital is a 20 feet by 60 feet structure that comprises five sections.

"The huts, of corrugated iron over an iron framework, resemble an Alaskan igloo in outline. They are 20 feet wide at floor level and come in 12-foot length sections. Weld the sections together and there you are with a building of any length you like . . . that is divisible by 12.

For his animal hospital, however, Dr. Labahn is going a bit further than this rough finish. He had the complete structure outlined with celotex with three and a half inches of insulation topside and five and one-half inches along the sides. The type insulation used in this building was blown in. This, despite the burning metal outside on a hot day, keeps the inside cool enough to do justice to an air-conditioning element. The hut is partitioned into seven rooms which will provide space for offices, laboratory, an operating room, and a place for sick animals.

"The quonset hut provides an easily constructed accommodation a little less expensive than the conventional building. Electrical wiring, heating, water, and other modern conveniences are easily installed.

"Dr. and Mrs. Labahn decided to make their home here when he was discharged from Camp Chaffee, where he had been stationed for two years. The Labahns were living in Sedalia, Mo., prior to the veterinarian's army service."

S-Sgt. M. Jefferson To Be Released

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Jefferson, 602 West Cooper, received a telephone call from their son, S/Sgt. Kenneth Jefferson, in Kansas City, on his way to Fort Bliss, Texas, where he will receive his discharge from the service. He has been in the army 37 months, 19 of which were spent in England, France and Germany.

Sgt. Jefferson expects to go to Los Angeles immediately after his release, and then to be with his parents here in about two weeks.

Maps above show current "hot spot" of Mediterranean, the disputed section of Venezia Giulia. Anglo-American forces, now occupying Zone A (1), issued warning against invasion to Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia, whose troops occupy Zone B (2). Tito reportedly is reinforcing his garrison in Zone B, and unconfirmed reports state strong Red Army units are being moved into Yugoslavia from neighboring Rumania.

Only One Planting Needed Of Long-Harvest Crops

Vegetables which, once mature, can be harvested the rest of the season take less planning than the short-harvest items. You have only to sow them, or set them out at the earliest safe date, and be careful not to plant too much.

Take especial care with the greens—parsley, Swiss chard and New Zealand spinach—which are often overplanted. Instead of a row of each, to divide a row among the three will suffice for many families. All are among the richest of vegetables in vitamin A and should be eaten often, say nutritionists.

The time for planting all these crops is definite. Sow seed of the hardy ones just as soon as the soil can be prepared. Plants, even of the hardy ones, should not be set out until the danger of frost is over, and that is also the time to sow, or set out, plants of the tender varieties.

It is not so easy to determine how much to sow, because the harvest lasts from the time they are large enough to use, until frost kills the plants. This is an indefinite period, but will usually average about 12 weeks. To estimate the space sufficient to supply the table for this period multiply the figure given in column two of the accompanying table by 12, then again by the number of times per week the vegetable will be served on your table.

SOWING DATA ON LONG-HARVEST CROPS.

	Days to Table Size.	Grow for 4-Portion Serving.
HARDY KINDS:
Broccoli	70	2 ft.
Celery	140	1 ft.
Collards	75	1 ft.
Kale	60	1 ft.
Leek	90	2 ft.
Parsley	70	6 in.
Parsnip	95	2 ft.
Salsify	100	2 ft.
Swiss chard	60	6 in.
New Zealand spinach	60	6 in.
TENDER KINDS:
Cucumbers	45-70	1 ft.
Eggplant	90	1 ft.
Peppers	60-90	1 ft.
Tomatoes	60-90	½ ft.

To obtain the yields for tomatoes and cucumbers estimated in the table, both must be trained on stakes or fences, to reduce the ground space occupied. If vegetables are to be grown for canning, additional space must be provided. Where catalogues offer both early and late varieties of a vegetable, space should be divided between them, to get both an early harvest and the heavier yield which the slow-maturing kinds usually give.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Joseph Newland, 419 North Grand avenue, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, June, to Pfc. Dale S. Waite, stationed at Sedalia Army Air Field, son of Mrs. Doretta Waite, 216 East Broadway. The wedding will take place in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Newell of 1220 West Main street, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Gussie, to Mr. Joseph DePietrantonio of Ardmore, Pa.

The wedding will take place Monday, April 22, in Ardmore, Pa.

Mrs. Roy Edgar and Mrs. Margaret Bucke, 1217 West Main street, entertained Thursday evening with a personal shower in honor of Miss Gussie Newell who will be married this month to Mr. Joseph DePietrantonio of Ardmore, Pa.

The evening was spent in card games and conversation, after which Miss Newell was taken to a table centered with a bowl of spring flowers around which were placed her gifts.

A large bride's cake was cut and served with other refreshments to the following guests: Mrs. Ollie Jewell, Mrs. Ralph Strader, Mrs. Ruth Dahinzer, Mrs. Clifford Mawhorter, Mrs. Bernice Chester, Mrs. Pearl McMackin, Miss Mildred Henderson, Mrs. Vernon Bartlett and daughter, Sherry.

The date for the formal opening dance at the Sedalia Country club has been set for Saturday night, April 27, Mrs. Harold J. Heerman and Mrs. Richard R. Gorrell, co-chairman of the social committee, have announced. The annual spring ladies' day luncheon-bridge has been scheduled for Thursday, May 2.

An Easter egg hunt for the children of members of the club will be held on Saturday morning, April 20, the day before Easter.

The committee at a meeting held last week also made plans for an informal dance on May 25.

At the ladies' day party last Thursday Mrs. L. C. Yunker won the bridge award and Mrs. Heber U. Hunt held the honors in Mah Jongg.

Ensign Katherine L. Castle, U. S. N. R., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford E. Castle of Terrace Place New Milford, Conn., and Lt. Commander James F. Phelan, USN son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy D. Phelan of Evanston, Ill., formerly of Sedalia, were married Saturday afternoon, March 23, at St. John's church, New Milford, at one o'clock, the Rev. Culbert McGay, rector, officiating at the single ring services.

The New Milford Times, issue of March 28, continues an account of the wedding as follows:

"The bride, given in marrige by her father, wore a gown of white satin, with long sleeves, and a sweetheart neckline. She wore a finger-tip length veil, caught from a Juliet cap of brocaded satin and carried a bouquet of gardenias.

"The matron of honor, Mrs. Lewis Z. Care of Wilmington, Del., a classmate of the bride's at the University of Delaware, wore a gown of American Beauty bengaline with long sleeves, apron ruffles and sweetheart neckline. She wore a tiara of American Beauty roses, and carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

"The attendants, Mrs. William G. Dukek Jr., of Westfield, N. J., and Miss Frances J. Russell of Kansas City, Mo., wore a gown of ice blue bengaline, styled similar to the matron of honor's gown, carried bouquets of American Beauty roses and tiaras of American Beauty roses.

"The bride's mother wore a gown of Chartreuse crepe with black accessories, a pink flowered hat and a corsage of pink camellies.

"The groom's mother wore a gown of gray crepe with purple aecessories, a purple flowered hat and an orchid corsage.

"Jack D. Phelan of Kansas City, Mo., who flew from Mexico to attend the ceremony was best man. The ushers were: Truman Castle, brother of the bride, of New Milford; Lt. Commander James W. MacMurray of Brookville, Pa.; Lt. Commander John L. Hansen of Pasadena, California; Lt. Com. William Lattimore of Savannah, Georgia, and Russell H. Cullen of Hyattsville, Md.

"A reception for family and immediate friends was held at the Wayside inn which the grandmother of the bride, the late Mrs. J. E. Castle, owned and operated for many years, and in which the bride was born. An orchestra played for the dancing.

"Later in the day the bride and groom left by plane from New York for Canada.

"Out of town guests were present from Washington, Philadelphia, Wilmington, Evanston, Ill.; New York Greenwich, Tuxtla, Mexico; Chicago, Bridgeport, Norwalk, Stratford, Stamford, Danbury, Morris and Kingston, N. Y.

"Mrs. Phelan is a graduate of the University of Delaware and also attended the University of Pennsylvania and the Pennsylvania State College. She was commissioned in the WAVES in September 1944 and has since been stationed in the Navy Public Information Office in Chicago, Ill.

Lt. Commander Phelan attended Northern State Teachers College in Aberdeen, S. D., and graduated from the United States Naval Academy in 1940. At present he is stationed abroad the USS Montpelier."

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard C. Dugan of North Kansas City announce the marriage of their daughter, Eunice Irene, to Kedron D. Godfrey of Pyatt, Ark., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Godfrey, Sunday, March 10, at 4 p. m. at the First Christian church in North Kansas City. The Rev. Ralph G. Allen, pastor of King Hill Christian church of St. Joseph, read the double ring ceremony before an altar banked with woodwardia ferns, palms, peach gladioli, white snapdragons and calla lilies.

The bride is a niece of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Stephens of Otterville.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Mae L. Davidson, organist, played Debussy's "Clair de Lune" and "Opening Theme" from the Tschaikowsky Piano Concerto. Miss Marguerite Riddle of Parkville sang "Because" and "Always." The strains of "Sweetheart of All My Dreams" and "Till the End of Time" were played softly during the exchange of nuptial vows.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin and net fashioned with fitted bodice fastening in back with tiny, covered buttons, scalloped tunic, scalloped neckline, long sleeves tapering to a point over the hands and full skirt which culminated in a short train. Her fingertip veil fell from a tiara of orange blossoms. A single strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom, was her only ornament. She carried an arm bouquet of peach gladioli, gardenias and Talisman roses from cascaded streamers of white satin ribbon.

Miss Dorothy Jeanne Dugan, attired in a floor-length dress of pink marquisette over taffeta, and carrying a nosegay of sweetpeas and carnations, served her sister as maid of honor.

Mrs. Paul Neece and Mrs. John Drago of Kansas City, bridesmaids, wore blue and pink gowns. Miss Beverly Ann Dugan, junior bridesmaid for her sister, was attired in blue satin. All carried bouquets like that of the maid of honor.

To the strains of "I Love You Truly," Miss Phyllis Dugan, sister of the bride, and Miss Shirley Faubion of Maple Park lighted the cathedral candles set in tall standards. Miss Dugan wore blue marquisette over taffeta and Miss Faubion blue taffeta.

Glen Millum of Kansas City, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man and John Farnsworth and Paul Neece of Kansas City were groomsmen.

Master Lawrence Miller Davidson of Golden Oaks carried the rings on a satin pillow.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the church for 200 guests. The bride's mother received in a misty blue, sheer dress with corsage of pink carnations.

The couple departed for a wedding trip to southern Missouri and Arkansas and returned March 24 to be at home at 318 South Belmont, Kansas City.

Among out-of-town guests were the bride's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Stephens of Chamois and the parental grandmother, Mrs. Charles Dugan of Orrick.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard C. Dugan of Maple Park entertained Saturday night, March 9, with a buffet supper at their home for the 14 members of the bridal party.

Roses, snapdragons and carnations in pastel shade formed the bouquet that decorated the white linen covered table.

A wedding rehearsal followed the supper.

The sixth birthday anniversary, April 4 of April Burton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Burton, 241 South Quincy avenue, was celebrated with a party given by Mrs. Burton at their home Thursday from 4:00 to 6:00 p. m.

A color scheme of pink and white was carried out in decorations and refreshments. In a contest game, Myra Garst received first place award and Donnie Anderson second. Each child was given a balloon as a favor.

Birthday cake was served with ice cream to the following young guests: Nancy and Myra Garst, Dwane Smith, Judy and Jo Karen Eakins, Donnie and Vincent Anderson, Benjy Hill, Gay Corson, Sheila Isgur, Sandra Johnson and April's brother, Tony Burton.

Miss Thelva Bartels, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Bartels of north of Knob Noster, and Barnar Etter of Ettersburg, Calif., were married at a 9 a. m. high mass at Sacred Heart church, Sedalia, Saturday, March 30. The Rev. Fr. William P. Stack read the double ring ceremony.

The organist played the Bridal Chorus from "Lohengrin" by Wagner as the processional and the Mendelssohn Wedding March as recessional.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white net over white satin and a finger-tip veil. Her ornament was a three-strand pearl necklace, a gift from the bridegroom, and she carried a colonial bouquet of white sweetpeas and red roses.

Miss Evelyn Burgess of Knob Noster, the bride's attendant, was attired in a blue gown and carried a bouquet of sweetpeas.

Robert Brendel of Knob Noster was best man.

The bride's mother wore a pink jersey dress with black accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

After the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Etter are spending a few days in the Ozarks, after which they will make their home in Ettersburg.

Mr. Etter received his army discharge December 13 after five year's service. He was stationed at the Sedalia Army Air Field over a year.

Those planning to attend the Game Day Luncheon at Heard Memorial Club House Tuesday are to make reservations by Monday noon.

GIRL SCOUTS

The first meeting of the mid-year outdoor training class for Girl Scout leaders and council members was held from 10 to 3 o'clock Wednesday at Camp Sakajawea.

All leaders planning to take troops on overnight camping, attending this training course, will be "licensed leaders" according to Mrs. Harry Lambirth, training chairman.

Mrs. C. A. Wright, camp chairman, gave a short talk on the care of the "Little House" and how to use the improvements that have just been completed.

Mrs. Lambirth with the assistance of Mrs. Ernest Liebel, demonstrated outdoor fire building with the use of material at hand.

Mrs. Stanton Hudson explained "Camp cooking" and served a meat and vegetable meal well worth eating.

During the rest period (a must at all Girl Scout camps) Mrs. Lambirth told about the origin of the Easter egg and the old and new method of coloring eggs. Egg rolling contests began in England, and the custom was introduced into this country by "Dolly Madison," wife of the fourth president of the United States, and continues today on the White House lawn.

Leaders and council members present were Mmes. G. H. Abney, J. M. Bailey, A. F. Chambers, E. M. Franke, Byron Gates, C. W. Hopkins, S. Hudson, F. Hugelman, H. U. Hunt, H. N. D. D. T. Saves Asters From Insect-Borne Disease

Thanks to the army insecticide, D.D.T., asters which once were rated among the three most popular flowers, may be on their way back to leadership this year. For years they have suffered from an insect-borne virus disease called aster yellows, which was carried from host plants by a pestiferous insect known as the leaf hopper.

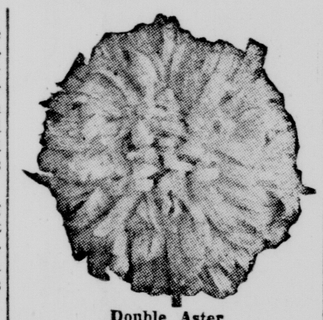

This is a tiny jumping and flying pest which does not eat leaves, but drinks plant juices. No insecticide had ever been found which would control it, until D.D.T. was tried. When dusted on the plant, this new insecticide stays there until the insects, which swarm on the gardener's approach, come back to renew their feast. Then D.D.T. strikes them, through their feet, and soon there are no leaf hoppers.

The aster wilt, which is prevalent in some sections, has been overcome by breeding wilt resistant varieties; but against the yellows no remedy had been found, except to grow the flowers in a cloth house, or a high cloth fence, which would exclude the leaf hoppers.

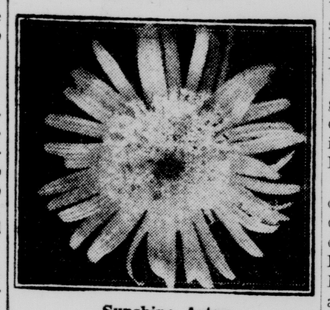

Because the plants grow slowly, they are usually started under protection, to give an earlier harvest. But if you are willing to wait, more vigorous plants can be grown by sowing direct in the garden.

Their large flowers, many colors, and beautiful forms make asters one of the exhibition flowers, which are gorgeous enough to present the sort of spectacle that is required for a great flower show. They have all the colors except yellow, but a yellow blend is found in varieties of the California Sunshine and Princess types, which have crested centers surrounded by guard petals.

There are dwarf asters, which grow into bushes covered with small flowers, and single asters, in effect large daisies of many colors, which will be new to many gardeners. If you try asters this year, protect them from the leaf hoppers by regular dustings from the time they are a few inches high.

English Bride Arrives in Sedalia

An English bride who arrived in New York aboard the Queen Mary April 4 completed her trip to Sedalia Saturday night.

She is Mrs. Francis Fowler, the former Miss Amy May Brock, of Saint Ives, England, who became acquainted with Mr. Fowler while he was stationed in England as an army private.

Mr. Fowler, who resides at 517 South Hancock avenue, went to St. Louis Saturday morning to meet his wife and their baby daughter, Ruby Marie, and accompany them to Sedalia. Mr. and Mrs. Fowler had not seen each other for 14 months.

All Year Harvest Given By Crops Which Defy Cold

In sixteenth century England, parsnips were popular, together with a similar vegetable known as the skirret, which is described by an ancient garden writer as having a taste "very pleasant, far beyond any parsnip, as all agree that taste them."

The skirret has disappeared, however, and the parsnip survives, not only one of the sweetest of vegetables, but one with anti-freeze mixture in its veins. This merit it shares with salsify, the "oyster plant," likewise an ancient root crop, and both can be left in the garden all winter or dug up in the fall, placed in paper bags, and stored in an outdoor box, to be brought in, thawed out and cooked as needed.

Parsnip flavor is improved by freezing, but it is delicious before frost, and young roots pulled up in thinning out the rows will make a welcome summer dish. The seeds should be fresh, as they do not keep long; legal germination is 60 per cent. They should be sown as soon as the garden is prepared, in drills half an inch deep. They take two to three weeks to germinate, so a few radish seeds may be mixed with them to come up quickly and "mark the row." The plants should be thinned out to stand four to six inches apart, since the roots grow to a depth of a foot and a diameter of three inches.

Salsify roots are thinner and may stand two inches apart. The seeds are long and pod-like and germinate quickly. This crop requires rich soil to produce good roots, and takes 100 days from sowing to mature.

Parsnip and salsify are the only vegetables commonly grown which are unharmed, improved in fact, by prolonged hard freezing. They may be left in the garden all winter and dug in the spring, but if not promptly lifted they will begin to grow and turn soft.

Kale and Brussels sprouts will survive several freezing spells in the late fall, but they should be used before winter really sets in.

While Frost Improves Their Flavor, Parsnips Are Good In Summer, Too.

Community News From Tipton

Mrs. A. R. Snorgrass

The W. S. C. S. of the Methodist church was received by Mrs. Jessie Leslie and Mrs. C. M. Ferguson at Mrs. Ferguson's home, on Wednesday, April 3. Spring flowers were used in decoration. Mrs. S. R. Ferguson, the president, heard the business. The society gave $17.50 to the Orphan's home gift to make a total of $50.00 from the church. Miss Lily Jahn led the program: devotional "Fruit of the Spirit" by Mrs. John T. Ricktts; a talk on literature by Mrs. A. R. Snorgrass; an illustrated talk by the leader; and a number of readings. During the social hour a salad course was served. Mrs. Arthur Peterson of New York assisted her mother and Mrs. Leslie.

Mr. and Mrs. Preston Hays are guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Fred Ferking and son, Billy Preston,, of St. Louis.

Mrs. Fannie Helpler 91 year old old resident of this community died Tuesday, April 2, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George Lowe after several months illness. Funeral services were held for her at the Baptist church Wednesday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Ivan Coyle. A quartet sang three hymns with Mrs. Stanley Palmer as pianist. Interment was in the Hopewell cemetery with Messrs. Stanley Palmer, Homer Hudson, Shelby Worley, Arthur Pedigo, John Homleft and Jesse Bishop as acting pallbearers. Mrs. Helpler was Miss Fannie Woods, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Woods and of this family two survive—a brother, T. A. Woods of Tipton and a sister Mrs. James Hurt of Knob Noster. In 1873 she married John Helpler and nine children were born to them of whom survive: four daughters, Mrs. Lowe, of Tipton; Mrs. D. M. Bell of St. Joseph, Mrs. I. H. Hurt of Los Angeles; two sons, Ben Helpler of Albania, Iowa, and Jess Helpler of Houston, Texas; and sixteen grandchildren and nine great grandchildren.

A number of Tipton people attended the Bible Conference in Versailles this week, conducted by Rev. Davis of Dallas, Texas.

The members of the Baptist church gave a covered dish luncheon at the church honoring Rev. Ivan Coyle, their pastor, who has finished his work here and is leaving for work in western Missouri. Mrs. Coyle and children will remain until school closes.

Charley Johnson who entered the army last April and who has been in the hospital with a broken ankle for some time, is at home with his family and has resumed his position as superintendent of the Tipton Times.

Mrs. Cameron Herold and small daughter, Janet, of Lima, Peru, who have come to the United States for a six month stay with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Opal Pulley of Kansas City are the guests of Tipton relatives.

In the city election Tuesday no candidate was opposed resulting in a light vote. Aldermen elected in the east and west ward were E. G. Crawford and E. A. Norman with Urban Wolf as assessor. School directors elected were: F. J. Quigley and I. W. Billingsley. In the vote for a county library to be established, the Tipton vote was 106 for; 1 against.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hays and little daughter, Virginia, were recent guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Carpenter of Prairie Home.

Meedames J. T. Renshaw, O. J. Stratman and L. F. Ryan attended the state meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society at Joplin.

Miss Maggie Flood has returned home after a two weeks stay in St. Joseph's hospital for treatment for pneumonia.

Estimated Cost $130,000.00

These additions would provide two library-study hall units (one for junior high school and one for senior high school pupils); additional rooms for industrial arts and music; and additional classrooms to accommodate, more adequately, present enrollment and two years of junior college.

BROADWAY - HORACE MANN SCHOOL ... SEDALIA MISSOURI

Estimated Cost $300,000.00

This building would be located, as nearly as possible, in the center of school population of Broadway and Horace Mann districts. It would have approximately 21 classrooms; an auditorium-gymnasium; special rooms for music and art; lunch room; library; offices, etc.

Sedalia Board of Education Endorsement

TO THE CITIZENS OF SEDALIA:

Sedalia, Missouri
April 7, 1946

In order to provide safe, sanitary and adequate school building facilities for the boys and girls of Sedalia, the Board of Education will submit a bond issue Tuesday, May 7, 1946, in the amount of $800,000.00.

A pamphlet s being prepared for distribution to explain the building program proposed in this bond issue.

BOARD OF EDUCATION
Herman E. Bloess, President
Palmer Nichols, Vice-President
Frank W. Hayes, Secretary
J. Roy Fullerton
R. M. Overstreet
Dr. G. H. Abney

THE NEED IS GREAT!

The Board of Education has studied the need and advisability of this program for several years. THE NEED IS URGENT. Broadway, Horace Mann, Jefferson and Whittier schools are fire traps of the worst sort. We shudder to contemplate what might happen in case of a serious fire. Not one of these schools has either an auditorium or gymnasium. There is no adequate place for students or parents to meet for recreation, progams or school entertainments. Mark Twain and Washington have such facilities and to deny the same facilities to students of other districts is undemocratic and unfair. Smith-Cotton High School is crowded beyond the point of maximum efficiency. It has no cafeteria and yet several hundred students eat cold lunches every day in the auditorium. It has no study hall. It has only one small combination auditorium-gymnasium. The industrial arts department is entirely inadequate and physical education facilities should be several times as large.

Our indebtednesss has been paid in full. Interest rates are extremely favorable and the cost to the individual taxpayer would be relatively small. In fact the tax rate required to finance this proposed bond issue would be less than the average tax rate for interest and bonds during the last twenty years.

We are, therefore, proposing an INVESTMENT of $800,000.00 in the boys and girls of this community. We cannot guarantee a return of six, five or four per cent on this investment. But we can say to you, in the language of Bruce Barton:

"When you invest in a boy or girl, you are always buying at bedrock. You are sure that the youngster is 'GOING UP' and there is no telling HOW FAR. I invite every man and woman in America to take a FLYER in 'CHILDHOOD PREFERRED.' I predict a great future for this investment. It has investment merit combined with the most speculative possibility. You are sure to get a man or a woman, and you MAY GET a GREAT man or a GREAT woman."

WHO MAY VOTE:

A qualified voter is a person twenty-one years of age or over, who has lived in the State of Missouri at least one year and in the School District for thirty days.

VOTERS NEED NOT BE REGISTERED!

All persons desiring to vote should go to the elementary school building serving the School District in which they live.

Baseball And Softball Teams Practice Today

Sacred Heart And Jr. Legion Are In Playing Condition

The Junior Legion baseball team gets in another practice today, if the weather permits, on the Coal Chute diamond in northeast Sedalia. Practice will start promptly at 1 o'clock. The team when it makes its first appearance this season will come out in new uniforms made possible through the Engles Motor Co., of Sedalia.

The team is holding regular practice on Tuesday and Friday afternoons. These practice sessions being at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. The players are beginning to get into good condition, and prospects for a 1946 championship aggregation is in the making.

Manager John Thomas, in discussing the team, says players are showing up well, making it difficult to start at this time assigning positions.

Some of the outstanding ball clubs of the state are being booked for games with the local team, to be played Sunday afternoons as well as for games to be played under the lights at Liberty Park.

Sacred Heart Practice

Sacred Heart Parish softball team likewise is whipping into condition. At 2 o'clock this afternoon, more than twenty-five players, will see the aggregation in a hard session of practicing.

Father William Stack, manager of the team, is encouraged with the hitting of the boys, and enthused over his pitching staff. His pitchers to date are Tommy Sanders, Stan Harla and Joe Peak.

Any team desiring to play the Sedalia club is requested to write or call Father Stack.

The opening game will be under the lights at Liberty Park on either Sunday or Monday night of May 5 or 6.

No Wrestling Matches For This Tuesday

Tuesday night wrestling matches have been postponed for this week. The reason for calling off the matches is due to the Shrine circus which will be held at the State Fair grounds at that time, and the Pettis County Post No. 16, American Legion, with the promoters desire to cooperate with the Sedalia Shrine Club in the promotion of the circus for success.

Promoter Marshall Estepp, in remarking of the calling off of the matches said, "The Shrine Circus is for a good cause, something which deserves the support of every every man, woman and child. I personally wish them success with turnaway crowds at each and every performance."

The wrestling cards will be scheduled for the coming week with topnotch wrestlers. Don McIntyre, Otterville, is returning to his home this week and will probably be on the card. It was also indicated Ray Eckart of California, Mo., may be back and a match might be scheduled between these two.

Smith-Cotton Spring Track Schedule

Smith-Cotton high school has a full track schedule from now until May 18th. Coach Ralph "Stub" Dow, announced the schedule the past week.

April 12: Kemper, at Boonville, dual meet.

April 18: Warrensburg High school, Warrensburg College high, and Smith-Cotton, tri-angle meet.

April 26: Marshall, there, dual meet.

April 30: Jefferson City, there, dual meet.

May 11: Conference meet at Columbia.

May 18: State outdoor meet, at Columbia.

Fourth Hour Win Volleyball Championship

Ping Pong Tourney Will Underway: The Junior Hi Play Over

The Intra - Mural volleyball league has concluded its season at Smith-Cotton high school, and now ping pong is well underway. The Fourth Hour, No. 2 team, was the winner of the volleyball tournament.

Playing superior volleyball, the Fourth Hour team came through to win fourteen of the fifteen games played. By winning the league championship the team is now qualified to play the faculty team at the high school on Monday. Members of the team are: Mark Gergman, Harold Bergman, Ted Schwermer, Jimmie Phillips, Dudley Luckett, Glen Cox and Ralph Waters.

Fourth Hour, No. 1 team was second in standing winning 12, losing 8; Hour One, won seven, lost eight; Hour Three, won six, lost nine: Hour Five, won fire, lost ten and Hour Two won three, lost twelve.

Thirty-seven boys are in the ping pong tourney. The Junior high school has completed its play, Charles Edwards defeating Marvin Hanigan 21-14, 21-14, and wins the honor of having his name placed on the Intra-Mural champions list.

In the Senior high school Bud Thomas, Sam Highleyman, Ted Schwermer and Gerald Hunt are still in the championship flight. Bud Klink, defending champion from last year was eliminated by Ted Schwermer, 19-21, 21-14; 21-19.

The calendar for the coming week is a full one. Monday the annual Faculty-Intra-Mural game; Wednesday Junior high track meet; also Wednesday the Senior high school tennis tournament starts.

Brief Fishing Season April 15 to May 15

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (Special) April 6—One of Missouri's more unusual fishing seasons will open April 15 and close May 15. During that period anglers are permitted to take redhorse and other suckers by use of snares, snags or grabhooks — a popular sport along many of the smaller clear-water streams in the Ozarks.

This fishing method is used when the suckers "shoal," or congregate in large numbers in shallow water to spawn. The suckers are difficult to catch by ordinary hook and line methods, and the use of snares and grabhooks is considered the one efficient means of taking an adequate harvest of these fish. Although bony, suckers are sweet flavored and are considered a delicacy by many southern Missouri residents.

By GAYLE TALBOT

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 6—(AP)—Herman Keiser wavered and wobbled today, and then the ex-sailor pulled himself together on the tough finishing holes of the Augusta National course and fought off the challenge of the country's greatest golfers in the third round of the Masters tournament.

Shooting an eagle, a birdie and three pars on the last five holes, the Cinderella figure from Akron, O., who never before even threatened to win a major event, blazed home a one-under-par 71 to maintain his five-stroke lead. Geiser virtually clinched first money of $2,500.

With his great opening rounds of 69-68, Keiser boasted a 54-hole total of 208. He was five blows in front of that famed little fighter, Ben Hogan, who grimly toured the masters course in 69 shots to overtake a group of lesser lights and jump into second position at 213.

Hogan has done a great number of things but few of the thousands who watched Keiser conquer his nerves in the closing stages today and finish with brilliant, courageous golf, would be willing to bet that Ben could gain five shots on him in tomorrow's single round. A 70 on his final round would give the blue-eyed, slow-moving Keiser a new tournament record, breaking the present mark of 279 set by Ralph Muldahl in '939.

None of the others could be conceded even an outside chance, even if Keiser should treat himself to a regular bikini of an explosion.

A stroke behind Hogan and six behind the amazing leader were Clayton Heafner, Jim Ferrier and Fred Taas, each with 214 shots. Ferrier and Haas each scored 68's today, a tribute to the earier playing qualities of the 6,800-yard course as the wind died to a whisper.

At 215 was Bob Hamilton of Chicago, former PGA champion, who added a 71. Byron Nelson and Jimmy Demaret also turned in 71's to tie at 216 for 54 holes. It was the first time that Nelson, the co-favorite with Hogan, had found himself a match for the course's exacting par.

The day's lowest score, and the lowest of the tournament, was credited to the big ex-soldier, Vic Ghezzi of Knoxville, Tenn., who had a 34-33—67. It placed him in a three-way tie at 217 with Jim Foulis of Chicago and Ky Faffoon of Orlando, Fla. George Schneiter of Salt Lake City was alone at 218. Sammy Snead was deadlocked with the leading amateur, Carey Middlecoff of Memphis at 219.

Individual scores include:

Bob Cochran, St. Louis, 157-76—233.

University City Wins State Track Meet

COLUMBIA, Mo., April 6—(AP)—University City high school of St. Louis scored 74 2/3 points to win the Class A Missouri state interscholastic track and field championship at the University of Missouri here tonight.

Lee's Summit won the Class B crown with 52¾ points. Both winners scored in every event.

There were two new recordes set, with Forrest Griffith of Lee's Summit doing 21 feet 11 inches to win the Class B broad jump, and ths Lee's Summit medley relay team being clocked in 2:41.3. Griffith ran on that team and also won the shot put and the low hurdles and placed second in the 60-yard dash for 29 points. He was the only double winner.

Other scores:

Class A—Normandy 24 1/3; Wentworth 21, North Kansas City 10 6/7, Springfield 8 6/7, Kirkwood 7 5/E, Maplewood 5 5/7, Columbia 5 1/3, St. Joseph Sentral 4 1/3, Hannibal 4 4/21, Jefferson City 4.

Class B—St. Charles 23, Brentwood 19, Springfield 15, Raytown 19¼, Chillicothe 9, Savannah 8, Kansas City Ruhl - Hartman 7, Boonville 5⅜, Nevada 5½, Huntsville 5, Washington 5, Fayette 2¾.

Smith-Cotton was entered in the state indoor track meet at Columbia, but failed to score to be recognized. Other Central Missouri Conference teams which were in the tournament but won points were: Columbia, Hannibal and Jefferson City.

Back In States

Mr. and Mrs. Clay M. Swope, 2000 South Engineer avenue, have received word that their son, Sgt. Jewel Leon Swope, has arrived in the states from the South Pacific and will receive his discharge and return home soon. He was in service thirty-three months in the 7th Air Force with eleven months overseas in Okinawa, China and Japan.

Sport Scraps

(By D. Kelly Scruton)

It was with interest that I read an article which appeared in the American Horseman-Sportologue, regarding Tom C. Hall, of Moberly. The article written by C. P. "Jumps" Cauthorn, was interesting to me, and I know will be of interest to many Sedalians who are acquainted with Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Green, Mr. Green former Secretary of the State Fair.

"Uncle Tom" as he was better known, is an uncle of Mrs. Green. Every fair week while the Green's were at the fair ground, he was in attendance and a prominent figure around the grounds, especially at the horse races and the horse show. But it wasn't only these visits he made friends here, because prior to the time his niece moved to Sedalia, he came to the fair for at least two days, and done so since the fair opened.

The following article appeared recently in the Monitor-Index at Moberly, Mo. I might add, "Jumps" didn't say any too much, but it's a real tribute to a real Missourian.

The following tribute to his old friend, Tom C. Hall, was written by Curtis P. "Jumps" Cauthorn, a former Audrain countian and well known in Columbia. It appeared in the March issue of the American Horseman-Sportologue, of which Cauthorn is now an executive editor:

"In every state or section about once in each generation a great character arises above the commonplace, whose name becomes a household word, whose wit or wisdom becomes widely quoted, and whose generosity or some other outstanding trait lives on long after he is gone. Such a man is Tom C. Hall, Moberly, Mo., and while he is still alive and kicking, and still dancing (he took my one and only away from me on the floor at The Chase last week), I'm going to pass on some of his philosophies which came to me as a welcome Christmas gift from his sister, Mrs. Maude Hall Jones, in the form of a beautiful little book titled, 'The Philosophy of Tom Hall.'

"Most of our readers who are active in the show horse business know 'Uncle' Tom, as he is affectionately called by all who have enjoyed his friendship, and will appreciate this little portfolio so beautifully done by Mrs. Jones. To those of you who don't know 'Uncle' Tom, we can best identify him as the 'real' uncle of Mrs. Charles W. Green, Mrs. Jones being Mary's mother and quite a grand character in her own right. Mrs. Jones and Mr. Hall have accompanied the greens for many years in their horse show excursions.

"Mrs. Jones didn't give the date of Mr. Hall's birth in the book, but he was born near Mexico, and I know the date and it's a ripe one. His greatest gift to his state and community have not been the buildings he has erected, nor even the great generosity to his family and friends, but the great number of young men he assisted in obtaining an education. My family was closely associated with the University of Missouri for the last half century, and I have heard them state many times that Tom Hall saw to it that many a young man who, because of financial difficulties, was being forced to leave the university, was called in by Tom Hall, and he made it possible for him to finish his education. As a result many prominent figures owe their success to a certain extent to 'Uncle' Tom. This booklet, filled with the original thoughts and sayings of Mr. Hall, will be cherished by his many friends and acquaintances, and we believe if put on sale would have a wide circulation over the country. It is like a visit with Mr. Hall, and yet it contains some of the most valuable wisdom, as well as humor, we have ever read."

Football prospects at Smith-Cotton high school are far superior, than they have been in many seasons. Even Coach Ralph "Stub" Dow admits this. For the past three weeks these "prospects" for the fall season have been getting plenty of workout, and now ready to take the Senior football team on for the annual spring game.

Twenty-eight players have been in attendance regularly. These same boys played last fall, but in the past few months, have added weight, gotten a little taller, and on over-all picture have turned into looking like real "he men". I am sure if the boys keep developing the next five months as they have in the past five—WHAT A TEAM Smith-Cotton will have.

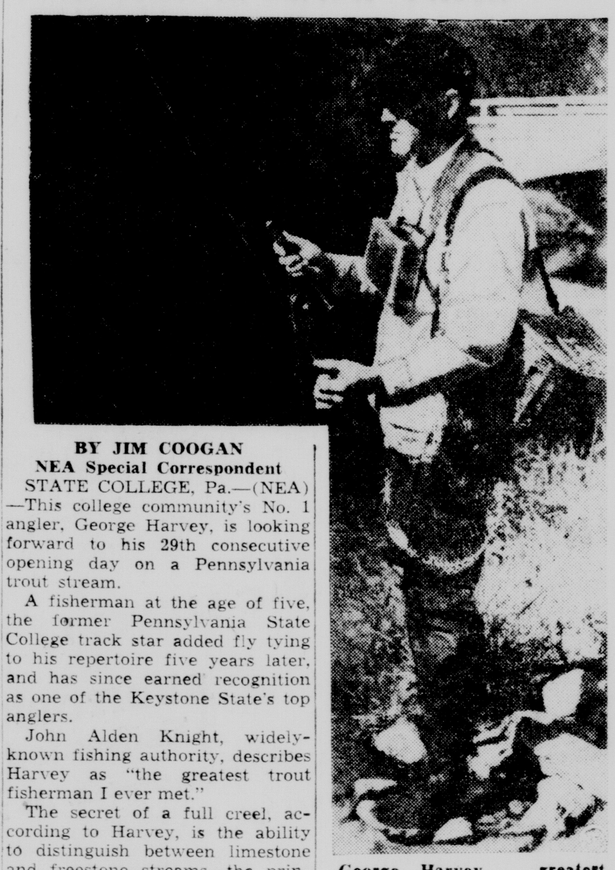

55,961 "Contributors" At Jamaica Track

NEW YORK, April 6—(AP)—They hung from the rafters and bulged the horse-park at its seams and made the mutuel machines ring like they never have before to welcome racing back to New York at Jamaica today.

It was a gold rush for fair and neither clouds nor rain nor a general beating for the favorites bothered the 55,961 "contributors" who got the 189-day 1946 campaign under way winging with new opening-day crowd and betting records. Altogether, $3,412,875 was tossed into the iron men, erasing by more than three-quarters of a million dollars the previous first-day high set up two years ago.

And it was a particular gold rush for the Indiana star, Fighting Step, who won the traditional Paumonok handicap 5½ furlong opening headliner in 1:65 like the champion he was last year, and for the Delaware hope, Hampden, who made a strong bid for a Kentucky derby starting spot with a ten-length victory in a secondary feature.

Greatest Trout Fisherman Tells How to Catch Them

George Harvey . . . greatest trout fisherman.

BY JIM COOGAN
NEA Special Correspondent

STATE COLLEGE, Pa.—(NEA)—This college community's No. 1 angler, George Harvey, is looking forward to his 29th consecutive opening day on a Pennsylvania trout stream.

A fisherman at the age of five, the former Pennsylvania State College track star added fly tying to his repertoire five years later, and has since earned recognition as one of the Keystone State's top anglers.

John Alden Knight, widely-known fishing authority, describes Harvey as "the greatest trout fisherman I ever met."

The secret of a full creel, according to Harvey, is the ability to distinguish between limestone and freestone streams—the principal sources of trout.

Limestone streams, found in the broad valleys from New England to Tennessee, flow over limestone formations. Freestone waters are generally located in mountain or plateau areas, have as their beds other than limestock rock.

Trout food is under the water in the limestone runs and on top of the water in the freestone waters, confides the expert.

"If it is a limestone stream, fish with underwater lures," Harvey advises. "If it's a freestone, fish with dry flies or surface lures.

"A few small trout can be induced to take a dry fly on a limestone run, particularly in the shallow swift waters or riffles, but those same trout could be taken more easily with nymphs or wet flies."

High water and muddy water nullify his plan, Harvey agrees, but he still contends his advice will stand the test 75 per cent of the time. He also admits that when there are specialized hatches of insects on limestone streams, the dry fly may be the best bet for a short period.

"But by and large," he adds, "the roving angler who is never content and who loves to explore new waters will find it profitable to put this theory into practice."

Harvey, a physical education instructor, organized the first college fly tying class while a student at Penn State in 1933, added courses in fly tying.

"Any fisherman can tie flies that will catch fish," is his contention.

Harvey is not the only angles in the family. His wife, Helen, accompanies him on many trips, is an expert caster. Susie, their four-year-old daughter, ties flies like a veteran.

With another season already under way, George Harvey wishes you all good luck.

Examinations For CC Agents Last of May

Applicants Must Be Missouri Residents At Least Two Years

JEFFERSON CITY, April 6.—(Special)—Examinations for men interested in becoming Wildlife Conservation Agents of the Missouri Conservation Commission will be held during the last week in May. Applicants should write immediately to the Protective Division of the Commission in Jefferson City for the circular covering requirements and qualifications.

There are 28 positions in this division which, because of war conditions, have been filled since June of 1942 by replacement agents on temporary interim appointments. These agents will be given opportunity to take the competitive examinations and those who are successful will receive permanent assignments. Remaining vacancies resulting from promotions, transfers, and an increase in personnel needs will be filled from those attaining the eligibility list as a result of the examinations.

The May examinations, the first since December of 1940, will be similar to those held in that year and in 1938. Applicants must meet certain basic requirements before taking the written examination and being questioned by the commission. The fourth phase of the general examination consists of a field examination of the applicant's background and character.

Scores made on these examinations will determine whether or not the applicant is placed on an eligibility list. After existing vacancies are filled, those remaining on this list will be considered for future openings occurring until another examination is held.

Applicants must have been residents of Missouri for at least two years preceding the examination and this qualifies veterans who have maintained their permanent addresses in the state. They must also be between 25 and 35 years of age and between 70 and 75 inches in height. Replacement agents, however, now in the employ of the Commission, will have the age and height requirements waived in their case.

There are no educational attainments set forth, but the Conservation Commission reserves the right to examine all applicants on any pertinent subject within the range of high school graduates. Religious and political affiliations will not be discussed and although character references are required, no letters of endorsement are necessary.

Musn't Molest Birds

JEFFERSON CITY, April 6.—(Special)—Asbury Roberts, protection division chief of the Conservation Commission, today reminded dog owners that their dogs must not be permitted to molest or pursue game birds from April 21 to July 15. Sportsmen who train their bird dogs in the field in the spring must conclude such training before April 21. This ban covers the natural nesting season of bobwhite quail and other ground nesting birds.

Semi-Pro NBC Teams Will Number 50,000

WICHITA, Kas., April 6—(AP)—Estimating that 50,000 sandlot teams are poised for the semi-pro sport's official openers May 5, the National Baseball Congress announced today that two strong service nines will raise the curtain on its 8th annual National Baseball Day at this semi-pro capital.

Rosters of the Enid, Okla., Enidaires, national champions, and the Fort Riley, Kas., team—former state titlist—will be without a single performer of previous years when they meet in the stadium here.

This, says Ray Dumont, NBC president, is typical of present-day service teams. And he estimates that while 1,000 such teams will be playing this summer they will represent less than 5 per cent of the town and industrial clubs in action for the season's opening.

Cardinals Whip New Orleans 16-2

NEW ORLEANS, April 6—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals scored their third decisive victory in as many days over minor league clubs by walloping the New Orleans Pelicans, 16 to 2, today for their 16th victory in their last 20 starts.

The largest crowd to see the Red Birds in action this spring, 7,961 paying customers, watched Johnny Beazley blank the Pelicans on four hits for seven innings while the Cards scored almost at will with a collection of 15 hits and nine bases on balls.

Bowlesta Tourney In Kansas City, Kansas

KANSAS CITY, Kas., April 6—(AP)—Eight hundred bowlers from four states and 23 cities will take part in the annual Bowlesta Tournament which opens Saturday at Grindel-Lembke alleys.

Outstanding bowlers from Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska and Oklahoma will participate in the tourney which will be held over three week-ends. More than $2,000 in prizes will be awarded. First prize will be $150 and a gold medal.

Vernon Stephens Stays With Browns

HOUSTON, Tex., April 6—(AP)—Shortstop Vernon Stephens, who rejoined the St. Louis Browns today after playing briefly with the Mexican baseball league, said he rejected today a new telephone offer from Jorge Pasquel to play in Mexico for $25,000 a year for five years, with $50,000 of the money to be placed in a New York bank as a guarantee.

Stephens told of receiving the new bid in a conversation when he called Pasquel, president of the Mexican loop, to inform him he was "as of now resigning from your league, under the provisions of our contract." The star shortstop said his Mexican contract provided that it could be terminated at any time by either party.

Pasquel told him, Stephens said, that he planned to see the American ambassador to Mexico to make a formal complaint over Stephens' walkout and that he would file suit to enforce it.

"You have damaged me and my league," Stephens quoted Pasquel. "I also can damage you."

Pasquel also talked with Luke Sewell, manager of the Browns, who said the head of the Mexican loop pleaded: "You come down here and bring him back." Sewell said he replied, "If you want to see me, you come up here. You say you are a busy man. I am pretty busy, too."

The telephone conversation was recorded.

J. E. Wray, Sports Editor Retires

ST. LOUIS, April 6—(AP)—J. E. Wray, venerable sports editor of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, wrote into his Sunday column today the announcement of his active retirement and the appointment of J. Roy Stockton as his successor.

Continue As Associate Editor

Wray, who will continue as associate sports editor, said failing eyesight was compelling him to give up the job he has held for 38 years. Wray became widely known for his authoritative columns on horse racing and in 1944 was the only sports writer in the nation to pick the St. Louis Browns to win the American League pennant in the Associated Press' annual poll.

Stockton joined the Post-Dispatch sports staff shortly after World War I and was taken under Wray's wing from the start. Although Wray intended him to be an "inside" man Stockton showed his "on the spot" sports coverage ability during the National Amateur Golf Tournament in 1921.

Stockton Writes Column

Since then he has covered every phase of sports, written a regular column called "Extra Innings," conducted a daily radio sports broadcast, authored several magazine articles and a recent book on the St. Louis Cardinals, "The Gas House Gang and a Couple of Other Guys."

Last year he accompanied a group of major league baseball players on a USO tour of the European war theater. He is a past president of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Cubs Beat Browns At Ft. Worth 7-1

FT. WORTH, Texas, April 6—(AP)—Bill Fleming and aging Ray Prim of the Chicago Cubs held the St. Louis Browns to six hits as they fashioned a 7-1 victory for the National League champions today.

Harry (Peanuts) Lowrey, Phil Cavaretta and Marvin Rickert provided the hitting punch in the Cubs' victory. Fleming gave the Browns four hits in five innings and Prim allowed but two the rest of the way.

Bill Nicholson, the one-time slugger of the Cubs went into a season-long slump last year, was benched by Manager Charley Grimm today.

International Headache Over Ball Players

Big League Owners Missing International Pitch Of A Lifetime

WASHINGTON, April 6—(AP)—The boys at the Mexican embassy got into the hubbub today over the Mexican League signing up some American baseball players.

With a quick oral delivery—a person close to Ambassador Antonio Espinosa De Los Monteros suggested that big league owners were missing the international pitch of a lifetime.

Asserting the ambassador is "very interested and sympathetic" toward baseball—he "played it as a kid" and "kept up with it while a student of Gettysburg and Harvard"—this Mexican official asked:

"Why all this fuss over some American players going to Mexico? It looks like a rare opportunity for baseball to go to bat in furthering the exchange of international ideals.

"Here we are with the United Nations meeting in New York and baseball finds in its lap this rare opportunity for a practical demonstration of spreading ideas from one country to another."

"Sportsmanship is a wonderful medium for learning about diplomacy," this official continued. "Both of our countries feel that athletics are vitally important in this respect. They could be used to tighten relationships between peoples, perhaps more effectually even than governments.

"We exchange students, professors, artists, workers and so on, so why not ball players? After all, we learned baseball from Americans."

"We even borrowed American coaches to teach our youngsters to play your game. Now that we're coming of age in the sport, are we to be cut off from this relationship?

"In the past, Mexican players have played in American leagues, so why not the other way around?

"Come to think of it, it's too bad you don't have bull-fighting, Mexico's national sport. Then we could reciprocate by sending you some of our big-league toreadors in exchange for some of your guys who make the kill with the bases loaded."

Stephens Happy On Return

HOUSTON, Tex., April 6—(AP)—Vern Stephens, who jumped from the American League to the Mexican League and then back to the American League, said today he was happy to get back into the United States.

The reason for his sudden change?

"The top Mexican League looks too unsettled to me—too much of a gamble," he said after looking over the situation and playing two games there. "I'm only 25 years old, and I should have lots of baseball ahead of me. I decided to stick to the surest thing, to big league baseball in the United States.

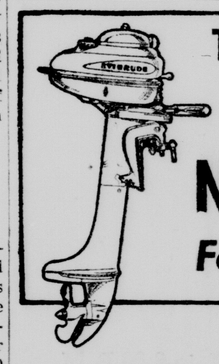

"Also, I have a wife and a three-year-old boy living in Long Beach, Calif. It would be a lot better for them if I stayed in our country."

The ace shortstop of the St. Louis Browns who joined his old teammates in San Antonio without warning last night was afraid to take time to pack his clothes.

"I was afraid they might do something to stop me," he said, "so I just hustled out of Monterrey and got to moving."

Happy Buckie Wins $7,500 Bowie Handicap

BOWIE, Md., April 6—(AP)—Leading all the way, Gustave Ring's Happy Buckie won the $7,500-added Bowie handicap by a nose today before a crowd of 25,000 that established a new attendance and wagering record at this course.

2-4-D Chemical Save Many Hours of Work

Classed As Weed Killer, But Does Not Harm All

Of the many wartime developments in chemistry one of the most promising from the standpoint of saving the ordinary citizen from many hours of hard work, is an organic chemical known as 2-4-D.

This substance is generally classed as a weed killer, but its amazing ability to selectively kill some weeds and plants while not harming others makes it one of the outstanding discoveries of the century.

For example: A Kentucky bluegrass lawn can be sprayed with 2-4-D and while the grass is not in the least hurt by the spray, the dandelions, daisies, ragweed, pigweeds and many other types of weeds are killed out entirely.

While 2-4-D sounds almost too good to be true, a little consideration of the theory of this product easily explains it selectivity.

Chemically known as 2-4-dichlorphenoxyacetic, it is really a plant hormone. When the plants which are active to this particular hormone are sprayed, it affects their growth factor to such an extent that the root dies trying to keep up with the leaves. It is just as simple as that.

Controls Weeds

As a general guide this hormone has little or no effect on most grasses. It will kill most broad leafed plants and deep rooted perenials. For this reason it is expected to come into widespread use for control of weeds in lawns.

As to the cost of the product it is expected to be well wthin the reach of the average citizen. While 2-4-D itself is a relatively expensive substance, it is effective in very low dilutions.

Another side of 2-4-D which is promising is the fact that it does not seem to have any special danger for human beings or animals. In very recent experimental work cows were turned to pasture in lands that had been treated with the substance. No ill effects were reported. It, therefore, appears that its use in pasture lands is perfectly safe. Also it is noncorrosive and noninflammable.

Does Not Affect Soil

It is also claimed generally that 2-4-D does not hurt or sterilize soil, although this must be said with some reservations. If it is sprayed on bare soil the ground may be affected for a time, although how long the effect lasts is still unknown.

A great deal of work is still being carried on all over the country on 2-4-D. Just how effective it is going to be as a general weed killer is still in the experimental stage to a great extent.

It looks very encouraging for the control of such pest plants as poison ivy, morning glory, honeysuckle, various types of thistle, chickweed, wintercress, narrowleaf plantain, lawn pennywort, and many other types of weeds. However, it has not been found effective on crabgrass, netgrass, Johnson grass or other weedy grasses.

Generally the position of the Bureau of Plant Industry of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the North Central States Weed Control Committee, both of which have tested the product, is that as an agricultural weed killer it looks promising, but still must be proved. As a weed killer for lawns it is approved.

Heaviest 1945 Disacter

Greatest loss of life in any one catastrophe in 1945 was in the tornado that swept throught parts of Oklahoma, Missouri, and Arkansas during April, resulting in the deaths of 119 persons.

Costly Words

Americans spend $10,000,000 a year saying "please" in telegrams. Next most polite word is "thanks." The two words average more than $15,000,000 combined in telegrams every year.

In the early days of the atom bomb development, the scientists used wooden wash tubs, auto jacks, sun lamps, and the like because there was no time to make the certain devices required

Miss Blanche Kay Retires After 30 Years at Swifts

Miss Blanche Kay was smiling Saturday a little more than usual. It was a day of reward for many years of faithful service. Saturday Miss Kay completed her last day's work after almost thirty years, for Swift and company in Sedalia and now has been pensioned.

Miss Blanche Kay

Friday night the employes of the company gave a party in her honor at the plant. About 50 attended, bringing with them food of all kinds.

"As I looked down that long table," Miss Kay said, "I thought how wonderful it is to have friends."

Saturday the employes presented her with a 17-jewel Bulova watch, something that will remind her every minute of the day of those friends with whom she worked so long.

Started 30 Years Ago

It was nearly 30 years ago that Miss Kay started to work for the Swift company in Sedalia at which time George H. Trader was manager. It was in the old plant that has since burned down.

"I have been through fire and flood with Swifts," she said laughingly, referring to the heavy rain that flooded the plant several years ago causing thousands of dollars damage.

Miss Kay worked at the old plant seven years and in the new plant twenty-three years. "I worked under five managers, Mr. Trader, L. M. Gifford, Chester Kurtz, N. E. Randall and R. L. Wiske, and five foremen, Bill Riley, Elmo Rosenquist, Ed Scott, Bill Hyde and the present foreman, H. Ferguson, and I liked them all," she said.

"I started in at 17c an hour for a fifty-four hour week and made $8.35 a week. Now Swift employes on the same work make that much in two days," she said.

"I had several raises," she said, "Four under Mr. Trader."

Miss Kay was forelady in the print room.

"It pays to stay on the job," Miss Kay said. "I'm not on the payroll anymore but I can still boost the products."

When asked what she intended to do now she replied, "I am going to rest and now I will have plenty of time for my friends."

Miss Kay and her mother, Mrs. W. R. Kay, who is ninety-one years old, reside with their sister, and daughter, Mrs. W. M. Allcorn and Mr. Allcorn, at 605 South Osage avenue.

Mrs. Maude Hall Jones Compiles Book Honoring Brother, T. C. Hall

"The Philosophy of Thomas C. Hall" is the title of an attractive and interesting book compiled by Mr. Hall's sister, Mrs. Maude Hall Jones, of Moberly, which is proving interesting reading to friends of Mr. Hall, well known and well liked in Sedalia, where he spent many happy days, quite a few of them at the home of his niece, Mrs. Charles W. Green, whose husband, Charles W. Green, was for many years secretary of the Missouri state fair.

One of the recipients of the booklet is Mr. George H. Trader, who became acquainted with Mr. Hall when Mr. Trader was in school in Columbia, attending the university, and Mr Hall was in business. That friendship has continued through the years.

Mr. Hall was born in Audrain county, Mo., and lived in the three adjoining counties, Audrain, Boone and Randolph, all his life.

Mrs. Hall's Motives

Mrs. Hall writes her main motive in compiling the book for her brother is to awaken and put into print some of that smouldering sentiment that has been in her heart for many years. "He has been a father to me," she writes, "my father passing away when I was but a small child, so good, kind and thoughtful of me."

The book is divided into anecdotes, quips, and "In Appreciation," the latter tributes to Mr. Hall by prominent residents of the state and elsewhere, who have been his friends for years.

DOUBLE-PURPOSE CAN

Used cooking fat helps out not only in our kitchen, but abroad as well, notes Mrs. Richard Conte, as she points out to her husband, star of "Walk in the Sun," that one pound of used cooking fat makes 6 bars of laundry soap. By increasing supplies of industrial fats, used cooking fat takes some of the strain off edible fats and oils, and allows its freer distribution through fat-starved Europe.

Enters Missouri Pacific Hospital

Wilbur F. Moore, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Moore, 1223 East Ninth street, left Saturday morning by ambulance for the Missouri Pacific hospital in St. Louis. The boy, who has been a patient at the Bothwell hospital, was accompanied to St. Louis by his father, an employe at the Missouri Pacific shops.

Fined One Dollar

V. E. Wells, 1712 East Seventh street, arrested by the police for not having a driver's license, pleaded guilty before Judge C. W. Bente, sitting as ex-officio justice of the peace, and was fined one dollar and costs.

Secret of Radish Success, Sow Little But Sow Often

The first radish he harvests thrills the home gardener more than the first robin. Three weeks, more or less, from the time the seed is sown, round, red, spicy roots are ready to serve, bringing to the menu a zest which stimulates winter-jaded appetites.

Yet many home gardeners have had trouble devising a radish program which would avoid the waste that comes when a planting is too large, and only a fraction can be used before the roots turn pithy, and must be thrown away.

The cause of this is the very short season that early radishes remain edible. The earlier they are the shorter this season, because they are growing fast, and quickly pass by the edible stage on their way to the goal of all plant life, the production of seed.

With radishes, as with other crops, you must sow according to what you need. Figure out the number you will use in a week, and estimate that twelve early radishes can be produced in a foot of garden row. Then sow a week's supply of an early variety at a time. Midseason radishes will be usable for two weeks, so two weeks' supply of them can be sown. The early varieties do not grow well in hot weather. If you want a supply all summer, sow a late, summer variety for that season. But frequent sowings in small lots is a good rule for all except winter radishes which take two months to mature and remain good for six weeks. They grow very large, some weighing several pounds.

One way to grow early radishes is to mix them with the seeds of parsley, parnips, carrots and beets, all of which are slow to germinate. Not more than a tenth as many radishes as the other seeds should be used. The radishes will germinate quickly, "marking the row" where the other seeds lie, which will assist you in cultivating. Be sure to pull and eat the radishes as they mature before they can crowd the slower crops.

Harvesting the First Radishes Gives Home Gardeners a Thrill.

For Inductions Halt May 15

Move To Extend The Draft Law To Feb. 15, 1947

By William F. Arbogast

WASHINGTON, April 6—(AP)—A proposal to halt virtually all draft inductions after May 15, 1946, made quick headway today in the house military committee.

The new move would extend the draft law from May 15, 1946, to February 15, 1947, but in effect would prohibit any new inductions under it. However, it would require the continued registration of all youths as they become 18.

Because of a late afternoon house session, the committee postponed a vote on the new proposal until next Tuesday.

Rep. Harness (R-Ind), author of the registration-without-induction proposal, told reporters after the closed door committee session he had sufficient votes to win committee approval.

A check of committee members showed it has almost unanimous backing among Republicans and some support from the Democratic side.

Harness admitted to reporters that the effect of his bill would be to stop inductions and end the draft until February 15.

An amendment to it, tentatively accepted by the committee, would permit the induction, even after May 15, of youths who are eligible for induction before May 15. The amendment would apply to youths in the process of induction on that date and to draft-age students now deferred to complete their schooling.

Proposes Pay Increase

"There is no need to continue inductions," Harness told reporters. "We can obtain the necessary men for the armed services by raising the pay rates, which we must do. We can keep the registration machinery intact and continue to maintain a blacklog of eligibles. If, on February 15, it appears that the armed forces actually face a serious shortage of men, then congress can decide whether to reinstate inductions."

He said he doubted if the army would find itself with a serious shortage "if it really gets behind the enlistment program."

Opponents of Harness' plan, who are advocating a straight nine-months extension of the draft law, conceded that the Indianan's move had potent backing.

"It has formidable support," commented Rep. Sparkman (D-Ala), Democratic whip and high-ranking committee member. "But if we're going to approve it we might just as well repeal the draft law in its entirety on May 15."

In addition to halting inductions, Harness' measure also would require the discharge of men now in uniform after 18 months of service and would limit service liability for future inductees to 18 months. On that provision, the committee is in general agreement.

The senate military committee, which is considering the same question, was told by a spokesman for the National Grange that congress must decide whether "it is going to police the world or feed it."

Club Improves Yard, Grounds

Cleaning the yard and planting shrubs and other perennials was the chief program of the Bowling Green Extension club's April meeting Thursday at Beaman Community hall.

A contributive dinner was served at noon.

Mrs. L. V. Igo, vice-president, presided over the business session which convened at 2:30 p. m. Accompanied by Mrs. Mary Stephens, the club sang "Believe Me, If All Those Endearing Young Charms" and "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes." The devotional leader, Mrs. Ollie Lotspiech, led prayer, after which routine business followed.

Improvement of the grounds and support of the Community club, which has been reorganized for 1946, are two of the projects of the Extension club.

Community News From California

William J Fitzgerald, 65, father of Mrs. G. W. Knapp, former residents of California, died at Mercy Hospital at Monroe, Mich., March 26, 1946. He had been in ill health the past two years. He was a native of Hamilton, Ontario, Canad. For 34 years he was with the Detroit-Edison Company until six months ago, when he retired. Mr. Fitzgerald was very well known here because of his frequent visits with his daughter, Mrs. G. W. Knapp. Besides his daughter, he is survived by his wife and another daughter, Mrs. R. C. Reider, of Akron, Ohio. Funeral services and burial were in Monroe.

Window design (No. 1 at lower right) prevents pupils from extending arms or head outside. Safety "extras" include padded book-racks (2) overhead; webbed seat handles (3) to prevent injury to small hands or wrists; emergency door (4) that is "play-proof," extra wide and high; many other features.

Fanny Brice Career Covers 25 Years, But She's Still 'Young'

By Rosalind Shaffer
AP Newsfeatures Writer

HOLLYWOOD, April 6 — (AP) — Funnywoman Fanny Brice, one of showdom's best and longest lasting comediennes, has a simple philosophy: "I'd rather be able to do high kicks than to look like I could do it and not be able to."

Fanny's long and varied career covers 25 years of radio, stage and pictures, with no signs of growing old. She has a two-year-old grandson but there's no ban on the grandma title, you understand. Not from Fanny.

Fanny will have nothing of those artificial aids to youth. She keeps her figure by the simple method of watching her weight and fasting enough to bring it where she wants it if it gets a pound or two over normal. She wears tailored suits superbly and is most careful about the design and selection of her wardrobe.

Early To Bed Saturday

Fanny washes and waves her hair herself, setting aside Saturday night for the weekly ritual. That's the night she goes to bed early and rarely accepts engagements. She feels that one good night's rest before the day of her broadcast is part of her "keep young" program.

Another part of the program is that Fanny refuses to be uncomfortable, socially, mentally or sartorially. She won't go out with people who bore her or make her feel restricted. She likes those who allow her to be herself.

Fanny likes to lie down on a sofa rather than to sit, for she feels more relaxed that way. As a result, her handsome home is full of comfortable divans. Fanny's friends, who are many, may be any age, but all are young in heart and have a good sense of humor, too.

Just Herself

Fanny thinks this quality of "being herself" is largely responsible for her success in rearing her two children, Billy and Frances, now grown and happily married but still very close to their mother.

"If I tell a funny story I never lower my voice when the children come in and it was the same when they were younger. I've always wanted them to know exactly what kind of a person their mother really is," says Fanny.

Of her work, she says: "If you're grateful, you'll never make a wrong move. Never get too important for your job; if you get the feeling that you are, you'll lose it.

Hates Rehearsals

"I hate radio rehearsals. They are so dumb," she says. "I always go into them with a blinding headache. But I love a performance and I never have headaches then." Unsympathetic persons give her headaches, too.

Another of the extracurricular activities in which Fanny indulges is following the horses. Recently she was taken to the hospital after a heart attack. Next day, still under an oxygen tent, visitors found her with a phone in one hand and a dope sheet in the other.

Preliminary Step to Simplify Legal Phrasing Used for Years

WASHINGTON, April 6—(AP)—Lawyers, when they write professionally, probably do more than any other group to torture the English language.

Legal jargon is handed down from generation to generation, each adding a little more. Lawyers admit this. It worries some of them.

If there has been a grand plan in legal phrasing, it seems to have been this: Two words are better than one and three are better than two.

A simple sentence in many a legal document is as rare as hair on an egg.

This has been going on even though the U. S. supreme court justices set an example with opinions which are pretty clear and sometimes brilliant.

A good illustration of what's meant here is the way criminal cases have been handled in federal courts.

For years U. S. attorneys, in writing a murder indictment, couldn't say simply a murder victim died, particularly if it took him a while to die.

They said:

"And the said John Doe from the effect of said bullets and the mortal wounds, inflicted thereby did languish, and languishing did die."

And if the victim was killed in a U. S. post office, the indictment became a literary Fourth of July.

After warming up with a few "aforesaids," the attorneys pitched in with hundreds of well chosen words to give the exact location of the post office, even to listing the individual lot numbers where it was built.

No one just deliberately killed anyone. He did "then and there knowingly, wilfully, unlawfully, purposely, deliberately, premeditatedly and with intent to do so, kill and murder John Doe, a human being."

The U. S. attorneys weren't compelled to write this. They looked at the way other attorneys had written indictments down through the years and did the same.

Add More Words

Once in a while a daring spirit added another word. When this was generally accepted as being pretty impressive, the indictments became one word longer, but not better.

This explanation comes from an attorney in the justice department His job now is to help clear up some of the mess.

A step has been taken in that direction. Hereafter, U. S. attorneys will write murder indictments this way, even though the killing happened in a post office and the victim took a while to die:

"John Doe, on lands acquired for use of the United States and under the jurisdiction of the United States, with premeditation shot and murdered John Roe."

It happened this way:

About 30 years ago the American Bar Association thought it would be a good idea to have uniform rules for handling criminal cases in federal courts.

The rules varied so much that a lawyer used to handling criminal cases in the federal court in one state often was virtually unable to try a case in a federal court in another state.

Uniform Laws

The bar association's idea for improvement kicked around for a quarter of a century. The U. S. justice department thought it was good. Lawyers thought it was good.

In 1940 congress passed a law authorizing the supreme court to lay down uniform rules for handling criminal cases in federal courts.

(Uniform rules were produced in 1938 for civil cases in those same federal courts. And many states have such rules for their state courts.)

State bar associations chipped in with ideas. So did the supreme court. Now the rule book has been completed.

It makes some basic changes and simplifies a number of things, even to telling U. S. attorneys how to write readable indictments.

All this, though, is only a preliminary step in any real effort that may be taken to whack through the wordy legal phrasing which has been built up by lawyers generally over hundreds of years.

Out His Money for Keeping Juveniles

JEFFERSON CITY, April 6—(AP)—The sheriff of Clay county is out the $1.25 a day he has been spending for the board of alleged juvenile delinquents held in his jail pending investigation by Clay county welfare officers.

Attorney General J. E. Taylor informed State Auditor Forrest Smith today requests for payments from the sheriff could not be honored unless the juveniles were committed on an information or a complaint.

Abandon Search For Derelict Barge

MIAMI, Fla., April 6— (AP) — Coast Guard headquarters announced Friday the abandonment of a widespread search for a derelict barge loaded with 134 tons of bombs and depth charges

Unofficially, it was believed that the craft was capsized by heavy seas and sank.

The barge was being towed out to dump the obsolete or "unsafe" ammunition at a depth of 600 fathoms when it broke its towline before dawn Monday.

The Daily Washington

Merry-Go-Round

by Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON, April 6 — An important debate has been taking place among food experts inside the administration regarding the use of horse meat for feeding Europe.

Horse meat is a type of food which Americans know little about. Within Europe it is standard diet and certain countries, especially France and Belgium, have repeatedly informed the United States that they would like to buy more horse meat here. If two and a half billion pounds of horse meat could be sold to Europe—which is the amount available in the U.S.A. —it would take care of most of Europe's feeding problems and eliminate any need for U. S. rationing.

Such a program has been urged by UNRRA officials and also by some experts in the army and navy. However, the plan has run up against several snags, chiefly that of U. S. meat packers.

The big packers don't want the American public to get the idea that horse meat is processed in their plants. They fear that the suspicion would linger in the customers' mind even after the emergency that horse meat came from smaller meat packers, many of them state-licensed. However, Harry Reed, who does most of the meat procurement for UNRRA in the Department of Agriculture leans toward the big meat packers and they never have wanted small state packers to get into the interstate business.

Horse Meat Feeds Zoos

Another source of opposition is expected to come from the many horse lovers throughout the country who probably would claim that the United States was being de-nuded of horses.

Officials point out, however, that several hundred horses are slaughtered weekly all over the United States to feed the zoos of the nation. Furthermore, the United States today has a larger surplus of horses than ever before in history. Agriculture Department estimates are that 3,000,000 surplus horses are now on the ranges and farms of the country. The grain which they alone consume would go a long way toward feeding Europe.

Officials estimate that these 3,000,000 surplus horses would supply a total of two and a half billion pounds of meat, also give fats for soap, together with hides to ease the scarcity of leather.

NOTE—While prices of almost everything tended upward during the war, the price of horses did not. Government buyers purchasing draft animals for UNRRA report that the country has thousands of four to six-year-old horses which have never been harnessed. Farmers haven't had time to break them in, would like to sell them if prices were right.

Bumptious General Vaughn

Twelve years ago, famous Filipino General Emilio Aguinaldo sent President Roosevelt a nine and one-half-foot carved table of Philippine hardwood designed to serve as a cabinet table. It was so large, however, that it couldn't get through the doors of the cabinet room and has remained in the main executive office lobby ever since.

The table is a beautiful piece of workmanship with four large carved buffalo heads originally attached to the four legs. For many years these buffalo heads were admired by all White House visitors even though someone occasionally bumped their knees against them.

The other morning, however, Brig. Gen. Harry Vaughn, White House military aide, hurrying through the White House lobby, also bumped his knee on a buffalo. Promptly the four carved buffalo heads came off. It mattered not that the table was a present from the Philippines' most famous leader in token of his long withheld friendship to the U. S. A. General Vaughn had bumped his knee, so the buffalo heads were removed.

Congressman's Pay

Elder statesman Josephus Daniels points out that in addition to his $10,000-a-year salary, a congressman receives various additional prerequisites, such as $16,120 annually for each senator to pay his office help, $9,500 for each representative to pay his office staff, while committee chairmen get additional clerk expenses.

The ex-secretary of the navy also observes that Senator McKellar of Tennessee has a total of $38,140 to spend for office assistants. However, Mr. Daniels, more courteous than this columnist, did not mention the McKellar relatives on the senator's payroll, plus his government limousine and schauffeur.

Senator Josiah Bailey of North Carolina also gets $19,720 annually to pay for clerks on his Senate Commerce committee; while other committee chairmen receive extra allowances.

However, it remains a fact that conscientious congressmen, with no independent income, are unable to save money in Washington, especially if they are scrupulous about campaign contributions. Perhaps the solution is the system of pensions for long-serving congressmen, despite the fact that a sensitive House of Representatives just vetoed a pension plan last week.

Capital Chaff

Representative Clare Boothe Luce of Connecticut, who has announced she will not seek reelection this fall, is busy writing two plays now. She also waited quite a while for an appointment at the White House, complained to Republican colleagues that apparently the president doesn't want to see her. . . Congressmen could save money for the treasury if they would read the Congressional Record more carefully. Three days after Senator Styles Bridges of New Hampshire had inserted an article on the German underground movement, five columns of close type, Representative Walter Judd of Minnesota inserted exactly the same thing in the record. . . The Russian Purchasing Commission, after trying unsuccessfully to find quarters in New York, has renewed its lease in Washington for another year. The owner of the apartment house used by the Russians received 6,300 calls and letters from people asking for apartments when the Washington Times-Herald printed a story saying the Russians would not renew their lease.

U. S. Troops In India

Excerpt from a letter sent by a U. S. sergeant in India: "How pathetic it is to see grown men exiled by their own people. I am the first sergeant of a group of men here in India. It is up to me to help keep the morale of the men up. There is no work to do, so I try to organize games to keep their minds busy. But it is up to the people back home to see that they, at least, have hopes of something to look forward to—some definite information instead of depressing rumors.

"In the last month I have lost three men to the mental ward. One I had the misfortune of seeing last week, a fine, healthy, American sergeant, this week a babbling idiot in a strait-jacket, who can remember nothing but his wife's name. There are dozens of such cases, and they certainly aren't war casualties."

Oldest Court Document

The written brief system of submitting cases to a court existed in Egypt 5,000 years ago. The Berlin Museum had one such brief that is said to be the oldest court document in existence.

The rain tree of Peru has huge umbrella-like leaves, which condense the moisture of the atmosphere and precipitate from 10 to 15 gallons of water daily.

Cool Smake

According to experiments conducted at the University of Michigan hospital, the fingers and toes of a smoker cool off from one to nine degrees when he is smoking.

Closing The Gap

The gap in the bridge at Charleston, S. C., has been completely closed by a Bailey bridge span. The Bailey span could be used to relieve stricken flooded sections where traffic was out by washouts. (NEA TELEPHOTO)

OH dear, Ann thought. Now she'd done it, after having been so careful for so long. She felt a quick twinge of anger at Jock for disturbing her mental picture of herself. No one ever made a pass—verbal or physical—at Connie. And not because Connie wasn't attractive, either. But Connie was so definitely Davey's. Connie and Davey and Betsey—they were a definite entity. Perhaps it was Betsey that made the difference. Ann decided that her child would put her in the same sacrosanct class as Connie's. And, abruptly, she decided to tell Jock—though it gave her an uneasy feeling that it was a bit rough on Colin that Jock should know of his child before he did. "I'm going to have a baby, Jock," Ann said quickly.

Jock jumped at the statement, coming without preamble out of a long silence, but quickly regained his composure. "How nice," he said politely. "That is, I'm assuming you want one."

"Naturally," Ann said drily.

Jock thrust a cigaret into his mouth, and snapped his lighter. It didn't work, which must have been annoying, Ann thought—poor Jock, trying to be nonchalant. She handed him the paper of matches she was carrying. He lit his cigaret, and put the matches in his pocket.

"That sort of disestablishes any claim I might have had on you, doesn't it, Ann?" he said slowly.

"I don't think you have had any claim—at least, not for a long time," she answered gently.

"Don't rub it in," Jock retorted sharply. There was a little silence, before he added grudgingly, "Sorry, I'm not at my best. Perhaps I'd better leave."

"I'll walk back to the house with you, and give you tea before you start back," Ann volunteered.

"You don't have a good stiff drink, around, do you?"

"I might even manage that," Ann said.

She made tea, but Jock ignored it and drank three large highballs in quick succession. Then he got up. "Well—good luck to you, kid! I may not like this life you're making for yourself, but I've got to admire your nerve."

Ann ignored that. "Say hello to Nina for me," she murmured.

"Do you think I'm nuts?" Jock asked rudely. He added, "Congratulate Colin for me."

Ann repeated his retort, but not aloud. "Goodby, Jock," she said.

"You know," he said slowly, "I think it is." Without another word he left.

Ann was still sitting beside the tea table when Susie came home from school. * * *

IT was some days later and to Ann's annoyance it had started to rain a little as she approached the house on her return from the post office. She dumped the mail on Colin's desk in the library, and tossed a couple of alder logs on the fire, before going to remove her coat and hat. She looked around the living room, decided, with unhousewifely haste, that on such a dark day it was sheer waste of time to dust, then went to her room to exchange her tweed suit and sturdy walking shoes for a knit rose chenille house coat and slippers. She surveyed herself approvingly in the mirror. The coat had short "push-up" sleeves, a slim waist, and a long, flowing skirt. Too long, she observed ruefully, as she stumbled over it taking her first step.

She curled up in a chair in front of the fire, and lit a cigaret before glancing through the mail. Lord Peter Wimsey came and nudged at her knee with his muzzle. She patted him absently. "Good ol' Peter—are you a bit bored with the boss away too?" He yawned in her face, and Ann laughed and followed his example. "Don't you wish something exciting would happen, Peter-Whiffles?" she said, reflecting that she really ought to make up her mind what she was going to call him, and stick to it.

Suddenly she heard a scream, footsteps on the basement stairs, and the kitchen door burst open. Helga, flushed and frightened, came running in. "Oh, Mis' Drake, my husband—he's goin' for me with a knife—"

"Nonsense, Helga," Ann said, getting to her feet. "Stay there, Peter—" She took Helga's arm and guided her out to the kitchen. "Really, Helga," she admonished her, a little impatiently, "you've been seeing too many movies. People don't do such things, really—"

"Mis' Drake, you don't know my Pete—" Helga expostulated.

"Where is he, Helga?" The kitchen was empty, the basement door open as Helga had left it in her flight.

"He's out back—I don't think he'd come in here—oh, Mis' Drake, be careful—"

Ann opened the door that led to the back porch, and encountered Pete Carpello, small and swarthy, an insignificant person to frighten big blond Helga. "What is this nonsense, Pete?" Ann demanded sternly.

His eyes, clouded with liquor, avoided hers. "S-s-so!" he hissed at Helga, and advanced threateningly. Ann backed up—not because she was frightened, but because she didn't want him to touch her, as he might in passing through the door. Helga cowered behind Ann, who felt curiously unconvinced by the whole scene. It was very bad melodrama, and surely a director would shout "cut" before it went any further.

And then suddenly everything happened at once. A knife was clutched in Pete's hand, and his face was contorted with fury. Ann stepped forward and opened her mouth to protest, and a rough hand knocked her out of the way. She staggered back, tripped over the skirt of her house coat, and as she fell, she remembered, sickeningly, that the basement floor was cement.

What They Say

If you have never visited a Shrine Hospital, do so at your earliest opportunity and see for yourself just what the Shrine does for the Hospital for Crippled Children.

A visit to one of the hospitals will be a revelation to you. You probably have not experienced the joy that is in store for you.

What will you see? A hospital? Yes! But a glorified one—smiling faces, sparkling eyes, dimpled cheeks, fertile brains, eager little people inspired by the hope and promise of a life of usefulness instead of dependence and misery through the correction of their physical deformities. Little boys and girls with crooked legs, feet grotesquely out of line, a back that won't work at all—yet wearing an expression of confidence that relief is at hand through the healing influence and the expert medical and surgical attention that the Shrine are supplying without cost to these kiddies or their parents.

A visit to a Shrine hospital is not as some may imagine—a depressing sight. The smiles and cheery greetings these children offer to visitors are ample evidence of their sincere gratitude and a renowned desire for life and what it will bring.

Go see these children—tough hands with them—smooth their cheeks—pat their little heads! The effort will be well rewarded and your enthusiasm for the Shriners' great charity will increase a thousand fold.

It is estimated that there are more than 400,000 seriously crippled children in North America who need orthopedic treatment. To answer this challenge, the Mystic Shrine of North America has established fifteen hospitals for the care of those children whose parents cannot afford medical treatment. Since the first hospital was established in Shreveport, La, in 1922, more than 100,000 children have received aid from the Shrine, and many of them are now able to walk and lead normal lives due to this charity.

It is a fixed policy that only children whose parents cannot otherwise afford to give them adequate medical treatment are admitted to the hospitals. There are no restrictions, however, on race, color or religion.

Looking Backward

Forty Years Ago

Hon. John Cashman, attorney for the Missouri Pacific, who leaves here this week for St. Louis, where he will have his headquarters and residence in the future, was most pleasantly surprised yesterday afternoon at his office by a visit from a committee representing a large number of Sedalia attorneys. The committee, composed of Hon. W. D. Steele, Hon. George F. Longan and others, presented Mr. and Mrs. Cashman with a token of their esteem and friendship—a solid silver tea set.

A score or more of persons fished at the Fischer lake Friday, and nearly all of them caught fine strings of fish, including several bass.

L. M. Monsees and Son desired to send a jack by express yesterday afternoon to J. C. Tubbs, who lives at Berlin, Ala., but the nicely padded crate was too tall to go through the door of the express car, which was a low coach, and the big express package had to wait for the midnight train.

Charlie Cully, J. R. Scotten, W. F. Webb and Rolla Lyons, the latter of Fort Scott, are again running from Sedalia to Denison as postal clerks on the Katy.

Dr. Guy Titsworth has written the Democrat a highly interesting letter (it is believed) from Capitan, New Mexico, but as it is in the Mexican language it will not be given publicity until the doctor returns and makes the proper translation.

Horse Measurements

Horses have been measured by "hands" from very ancient times. The measurement is from the top of the shoulder to the ground. The "hand" is four inches.

Early Discharge Papers

Discharge papers of a Roman soldier, consisting of two bronze plates, and dating from 122 A. D., are exhibited in the British Museum.

How Much is a Life Worth?
Some things are beyond price. Life is one. A beautiful and inspiring service when life ends is another. In so far as the funeral director is able to soften the shock, to ease the heartache, to compensate the loss, to provide an outlet for the emotions, to give counsel and assume responsibilities, he renders a service of inestimable value.
McLaughlin's Service leaves patrons infinitely richer in inspiration and in fortitude, in peace of mind and in memories.

A Smile But No Legs; Dickie Has $19,000 Fund

Show down for Dickie Landry in Lynn, Mass., hospital where he is recovering from an accident in which he lost his legs—but not his smile.

LYNN, Mass. — (NEA) — Little Dickie Landry still has his smile, but not his legs.

Dickie is only three years old. Even at that age he should have known better than play along the railroad tracks. He learned what could happen—too late. A roaring passenger train bore down on him in the evening twilight and Dickie failed to hear the warning cry of his older playmates.

When the train passed, Dickie lay along the tracks, his legs mangled.

At Lynn hospital, doctors amputated one leg above the knee, the other below the knee.

The accident and subsequent surgery should have been enough to kill a little fellow like Dickie, but he pulled through. Nurses and doctors alike fell in love with his bright, plucky smile.

Word of Dickie's plight spread, and publisher Ernest W. Lawson of the Lynn Item sent reporters to investigate. They found Dickie's father, Joseph Landry, living in moderate circumstances with his wife and seven other children. Every penny counted in the family. It would be tought getting Dickie the things he would need now.

Doctors said the youngster would require new artificial legs, to match his growth, every eighteen months until he becomes 18 years old. Ten pairs of legs would cost $5,000.

Gifts Poured In

So Lawson started a fund to help Dickie—goal $5,000—and contributed the first $250 himself. Editorials and stories about Dickie in the Item started the gifts pouring in. Press services picked up the story, and contributions came from all parts of the nation and Canada.

Today the fund stands at $19,000, and Lawson expects it to reach $20,000 before long.

Dickie is assured of his legs, and a new chance in life a swell. A committee has been appointed to administer the fund, and see that Dickie gets a college education and the financial start in life that he will need.

But Dickie knows nothing of this. Unaware that he has attracted nationwide attention, he plays happily in his hospital bed, flirts shamelessly with his nasses.

The picture now playing at the Fox Theatre this week unfolds the romance of a two-fisted bo'sun and a girl who tries to hold him down—and is packed with red-blooded excitement.

Photographic Astronomy

Modern astronomical discovery is accomplished almost entirely by photography. The photographic plates shows a clear glass, covered here and there with tiny black specks, which are stars, planets, or other celestial objects. Some new discoveries are made on plates which were made years ago.

Syracuse Sgt. Out of Service

Sgt. James Branstetter, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Branstetter of Syracuse, has arrived home after receiving his army discharge March 27 at Jefferson Barracks.

Branstetter entered service March 3, 1943, at Ft Leavenworth, Kas., received basic training at Camp Polk, La. He was sent overseas November 17, 1944, from Fort Jackson, S. C. His total length of army service was over three years, one year and four months of which were spent overseas. The sergeant landed in New York March 22 of this year.

Among his awards are the Victory medal, American theater ribbon, ETO ribbon and two bronze stars, Good Conduct medal and two overseas bars, the latter denoting battles in the Rhineland and central Europe.

4-H Club Discusses Plan for Next Year

The Van Natta Progressive Workers 4-H club met at the Van Natta school on March 28.

The president, Rose Geiser, presided over the meeting, which was opened with singing "America." Roll call was answered with each member repeating the pledge.

E. P. Kruse, assistant county extension agent, was present and discussed plans for the coming year.

After the business session games were played.

Nine members and six visitors were present.

Helped

The United States Army Air Corps assisted in development of a new fuel system for gasoline engines requiring no carburetor and affording a 10 per cent increase in economy and a 12 per cent gain in power.

LISTEN! by Jim Carson

THAT WAS exciting news for Heart of America youth broadcast this past week on the "Big Brother Club" (KMBC-5:30 p.m.). April is the month of KMBC's own 25th anniversary, celebrated just a few months ago by the radio industry itself. In recognition of the event, members of the "Big Brother Club" are being invited to a party — and what a party! On Saturday the 20th, (starting at 2 p.m.), KMBC is taking over the Arena of the Kansas City Municipal Auditorium for a gigantic two-hour show by stars of the Brush Creek Follies, clowns and other exciting novelty acts. And of course Tim West, chief Big Brother, will be on hand to see that everyone has a good time.

Tim West

THE LAYMAN is quite likely to overlook the true significance of Variety's plaque award to KMBC for national leadership in knowing "how to run a radio station." Such an award cannot be measured by accomplishments of any one year. It is the strict adherence to a policy down through the years that a radio station's place in the community is something more than being just a commercial enterprise. KMBC could have gotten along, and can, on just a skeleton staff of "switch-pullers" and "record-turners." It looks good on the profit statement, but it certainly doesn't provide the listeners with radio service in the fullest sense. Nor does up-and-coming radio talent get the opportunity, like so many have through KMBC's operation of the past, to show their wares as a stepping-stone to greater heights in the entertainment world. As Variety points out, "Profits have been poured back into increased program production. Nobody 'doubled in brass'." KMBC's staff is deeply appreciative of being selected among broadcasters from coast-to-coast (yes, including New York, Chicago and and Los Angeles) for this singular honor.

YOU HAVE written in for the low-down on David Andrews—so your request is our command! In the first place, he is strictly New York. You can tell it a mile off. David is married and has two boys, one— two years old and the other — a few months old. His association with KMBC has been over a period of only three years, coming from KSAL in Salina, Kansas where for four months he was an announcer and salesman. Prior to this, he worked as an advertising man for a like period of time with a well known middlewestern wholesale food house. David is a veteran of the U. S. Army, serving with the 94th Division in South Carolina and with the 77th at Battle Creek, Michigan and Salina, Kansas. He received his honorable discharge in June, 1943, after a year's service, due to a functional nervous disorder.

David Andrews

ANSWER-BOX TO THE MAILBOX . . . In case you've had a question or two about radio stars, local or network, remember to send them along to your Uncle Jim Carson, care of KMBC . . . Kit and Kay, the twin sister act of past Brush Creek Follies days, are out of radio, living happily at Rockport, Missouri, both with children of their own . . . You're right — Chuck of the Oklahoma Wranglers is part Indian . . . "The Texas Rangers" who recently returned from successful guest appearances over the coast-to-coast CBS network, start this week (Tuesdays, 9 p.m.) with a show of their own on KMBC.

That appears to be 980 from here!

Lone Star PTA Has Program

The Lone Star Parent-Teacher Association met at the school Wednesday night. The meeting opened with the members singing "Our Battle Hymn for Children" and "Together Song," accompanied by Marjorie Billings. The Easter prayer was read by Mrs. VanDyke.

After the installation of new officers for the following year, Mrs. H. J. Billings, president, appointed the following committee members:

Program: Mrs. J. J. Kehl, Mrs. Arthur Heineman, Mrs. George Barrett. Membership: F. B. Van Dyke, Edward Schwartz. Refreshment: Martha Lee Barrett, Helen Anderson, Mrs. William Anderson. Finance: J. J. Kehl, George Barrett. Hospitality: Mrs. Edward Schwartz, Arthur Heineman. Publicity: Virginia O'Neill.

It was voted to hold the meetings on the third Thursday night of each school month.

Mrs. H. J. Billings, program chairman, presented the following program: Two violin solos were given by Everett Billings, "America" and "Swanee River" Riddles were given by Harold Kehl. Two poems, "On Arbor Day" and "A Chubby Little Area" were recited by Helen Anderson and Mrs. Billings. Refreshments wer served.

The Scars of Warsaw:

Like a black-robed figure of Tragedy, a Polish woman plods along a once-thriving Warsaw street—but overhead a dazzling sun and shining skies give promise of brighter days while . . .

. . . from another war-wrecked street come shouts of children happy at their play. In their zest for life is symbolized the one thing the Nazis couldn't destroy — the Polish spirit.

War-maimed children are a common sight in Warsaw, and their cheerful smiles belie the pain of their struggle for bare essentials.

A cross of charred beams is almost the only evidence that this rubble was once a place of worship. It is ruins of St. Maria's church.

AND WHO'S GOING TO TEND FURNACE?

There I was, peacefully sniffing orange blossoms, when the theme song of that Mendelssohn fellow hit my ears. It sent me. Sent me up to apply for the job of furnace man in your new house.

My references? Just ask a family that has automatic gas heating. They'll admit never touching the furnace from the day of the first frost till the robins chirp. The Missus will show you a house clean as one of my prewar hambones. The Boss will go chesty over his recreation room, grown where fuel bins might have sprouted. Both will whisper that it costs less than you think to hire me for tending furnace.

It seems, Mr. & Mrs. Newlywed, I've heard something about your being hitched "for better, for worse". Well, you can take it from me, the better way is to heat automatically with gas . . . to let the pup be furnace man.

Autos In Collision Friday Night

A collision occurred at 8 p. m. Friday night between a 1939 Plymouth sedan, driven by V. E. Wills, 1712 East Seventh street, and a 1938 Buick sedan belonging to Melvin Ohlrich, 1223 Saline street.

Ohlrich, going east on Third street, was crossing Ohio avenue when his car was hit by the Wills auto going north on Ohio avenue, as Wills attempted to turn east on Third street.

Damage done to Ohlrich's car included the right front fender, the right front door and the right running board while Will's car had damages to the left front fender, the grill and the headlights.

No one was injured in either car.

America Must Scrape Bottom Of the Barrel

Otherwise Europe Will Have Famine, States Hoover

LONDON, April 6—(AP)—Herbert Hoover said Friday that famine is "inevitable" in Europe unless America and other large wheat producing countries immediately ship all available food supplies.

Reporting to the Emergency Food Conference here on the results of a personal survey of Europe, Hoover declared that "hunger sits at the table thrice daily in hundreds of millions of homes."

The American people, under the leadership of President Truman, already have responded generously to the call for a drastic reduction in their consumption of bread stuffs and fats, Hoover declared.

"We shall scrape the bottom of the barrel," he added.

No Proper Diet

The honorary chairman of President Truman's famine emergency committee said his inspection of European areas had disclosed that suffering from lack of proper diet was greatest among children and adults in urban areas.

He estimated that 5,000,000 tons of cereals a month and additional shipments of fats were needed in Europe to avert "disaster."

Declaring that infant mortality exceeding 20 per cent a year "is an indication of slow famine," Hoover asserted that rehabilitation of children "cannot be postponed until some other day."

"The world cannot hate children, even of the enemy," he said. "Our children must live in the same world with them."

Easier For GI's To Get Loans

Veterans who have decided to solve their own personal housing problem by buying a home will find the process of obtaining government guaranteed loans has been considerably simplified by recent changes in laws governing such loans. The amended laws make it possible for a veteran to obtain a home loan in a matter of days, where before the procedure took several weeks in some cases.

In the past, the veteran did not obtain his loan from a lending agency until the Veterans Administration had approved the loan. Now, the government guarantee goes into effect immediately when the borrower and a qualified lender close their deal. The loan papers need not be submitted to the VA until after the veteran has completed arrangements for his loan with the lender.

Under the old law, a veteran could not obtain a government loan if appraisal showed the property was priced at more than its "reasonable normal value." In view of current inflated real estate prices, this provision prevented many veterans from obtaining loans. This phrase has now been amended to read "reasonable value," recognizing the fact that most homes are priced at more than their normal pre-war value.

The portion of the loan for buying a home which the government will guarantee has been increased from $2,000 to $4,000, but the guarantee cannot be for more than half the total loan The non-realty business loan guarantee remains at $2,000.

Veterans may repay their home loans over a period of 25 years, while business non-realty loans must be repaid within 10 years. Farm purchase loans can run 40 years.

Further information on government guaranteed loans may be obtained from your nearest Veterans Administration office, W. F. Fidler, representative, 511 South Ohio, Sedalia. In addition, many banks, building and loan associations and other lending agencies have set up special "veterans' departments" to advise veterans planning to buy homes.

Mrs. Clark, Publisher, Dies

TRENTON, Mo., April 6—(AP)—Mrs. Carrie Rogers Clark, 78, publisher of the Republican Times of Trenton since 1924, died at her home Friday after a long illness.

The daily newspaper has been in the hands of the Rogers family since 1869.

Mrs. Clark taught school and was a librarian before she became a publisher. At one time she was the only woman member of the Associated Press in Missouri.

Mrs. Clark was a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Trenton Commercial Club; was first president of the local business and professional women's club; was twice president of the club, and served as Sunday school teacher and organist in the Baptist church for 25 years.

She traveled extensively in American and Europe and was widely known.

Surviving are a foster son, Ray Van Meter of Trenton, and a niece, Mrs. John Holland, of New Smyra Beach, Fla.

No funeral arrangements have been made.

Deny Writ On Redistricting

JEFFERSON CITY, April 6—(AP)—The Missouri supreme court overruled Friday the contention of John A. Davis, St. Louis Negro, that the St. Louis board of election commissioners had produced a "race gerrymander" in redistricting the seventh state senatorial district of St. Louis to conform with the 1945 Missouri constitution.

Davis had asked for a writ of prohibition to prevent the redistricting from becoming effective in time for this year's election. He said 108,765 Negroes in St. Louis would be deprived of the opportunity to assert their "group influence" in any one district by the new alignment.

The court, however said:

"What the Negro had been objecting to was discrimination against his race whereby he is denied the same political and other privileges that are enjoyed by others. But here the color factor was disregarded and he was treated the same as any other voter.

"The Negro vote in St. Louis is only slightly more than one-eighth of the total vote. As regards party alignment it is divided between the two dominant parties.

"There is no merit in the (Davis) contention."

The opinion also upheld the constitutionality of the legislative act which required the St. Louis board to redistrict before March 1.

A REAL Cutter-Upper!

McCORMICK-DEERING Stalk Cutter

It's a real problem to prepare good seedbeds when big, husky stalks of corn or cotton remain standing in the field. The best solution is to cut the stalks with a McCormick-Deering Stalk Cutter. They can then be plowed under cleanly or worked into the soil with a disk harrow. This sturdy, tractor-drawn cutter does a real job and does it in a hurry. Thirty acres of tough cutting a day is nothing unusual. The machine has plenty of weight to cut through the heaviest stalks and ample strength to stand up under fast working speeds.

Stop in and examine the McCormick-Deering Stalk Cutter the next time you are in town. We think you will agree that it's a real cutter-upper.

No. 6: Radar Goes to War

BY DAVID DIETZ

Noted Science Writer; Author of "Atomic Energy in the Coming Era," Etc.

(Written for NEA Service)

(1) The birthday of radar was dawning when the experiment you see illustrated here—"pulse ranging," it is called—was initiated in the mid-1920's. At the Carnegie Institution in Washington, Drs. Gregory Breit and Merle A. Tuve sent "pulses" of waves skyward. Each pulse was only a thousandth of a second long, with the waves having a frequency of several million a second. For another thousandth of a second the transmitter would stop sending. During that interval the first "pulse" of waves would return to the receiver. This was repeated for an indefinite length of time.

(2) Radar actually was born when it occurred to different people independently in scattered parts of the world that "pulse ranging," in conjunction with very short microwaves, could be applied to the detection of the presence of aircraft or warships. Using a directional antenna for sending and receiving, they could tell the exact direction of the object. The distance of the object away was half the time the message took to get back, divided by the speed—186,000 miles a second. An airplane could be kept on the radio beam, just as a beam from a searchlight trails a plane at night. But the radar proved more useful and accurate. Geared automatically to a gun, it became very deadly.

(3) By 1939 radar, which is a contraction of the phrase "radio direction and ranging," could draw a bead on enemy bombers many miles away. By the time of the Pearl Harbor attack, the United States had radar installations on key ships for air-raid warning, surface search and fire control, long-range aircraft warning sets, and searchlight batteries equipped with radar. By the end of 1941, more than 4600 men and women were employed in radar development in the United States. Britain was likewise ready with radar when the blitzkrieg started over England in 1940.

(4) Radar technique was imperfect but it won the first round of the battle of Britain. Prime Minister Winston Churchill, commenting on the meager force of defenders, said "never had so few accomplished so much." He failed to mention radar, because it was a deep secret. Failing with airplanes the Nazis invented buzz bombs. In 1944 new and effective radar gear was sent hurriedly to Britain from the United States. One Sunday late in August 105 buzz bombs headed for London. Only three arrived. American antiaircraft batteries, aided by radar in 1944 and 1945, downed one buzz bomb, traveling at incredible speed, for every 40 rounds fired.

Settle Claim In Estate

LOS ANGELES, April 6—(AP)—Lupe Velez' sister, Mrs. Josefina Anderson, has agreed to accept $3,870 in settlement of a $45,900 claim against the estate of the late Mexican film actress, who bequeathed $250,000 to her parents and her secretary, Mrs. Beulah B. Kinder.

Mrs. Anderson notified superior court, where a protracted litigation has been in progress over the Velez estate, that she had signed the agreement with Mrs. Kinder, executrix, who received one-third of the legacy.

Miss Velez committed suicide in 1944.

Local Data

According to the Monthly Review of the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis:

General Business: During February debits to deposit accounts at banks in Sedalia aggregated $7,345,000, and were 26 per cent more than for the same month last year. These debit figures represent for the most part checks against depositors' accounts in payment of goods, service and debts, and are considered a good indicator of general business activity.

American automobiles are being scrapped at the rate of 150,000 monthly.

First U. S. all-metal transport plane was the Stout "Pullman," built in 1924.

Keith Kreissler Out Of Military Service

Keith Kreissler, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Kreissler, 210 East Sixth street, arrived in Sedalia Friday, after receiving his military discharge at Ft. Leavenworth, Kas.

Kreissler, who served in the army air corps as a radio and teletype operator with the rank of private first class, has been stationed in India the past ten months. He entered service immediately after his graduation from Smith-Cotton high school in 1943 for a total of two years and eight months duty.

Byrnes In Call For Meet Of Ministers

Proposes Session In Paris For Big Four April 25

WASHINGTON, April 6—(AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes Friday night called for a Big 4 foreign ministers meeting in Paris April 25 to speed final peace settlements with the former European Allies of Nazi Germany.

Byrnes disclosed that he had dispatched the suggestion from New York yesterday to Foreign Ministers Molotov of Russia; Bevin of Britain and Bidault of France. His aim obviously was to avert postponement of the 21-nation European peace conference, scheduled to open in Paris not later than May 1.

Byrnes consistently has contended that the conference should convene by that deadline date, established in the Moscow communique of big three foreign ministers last December. Britain has agreed, but Russia has suggested postponement because the deputy foreign ministers, meeting in London, have made neglible progress on the drafts of proposed treaties with Italy, Rumania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Finland.

In his message proposing the new meeting of foreign ministers, Byrnes conceded that he had been "much distressed at the slow progress made by our deputies."

Expects Acceptance

Indicating he expected Molotov, Bevin and Bidault to agree to the proposed meeting, Byrnes added:

"I hope that each of us may instruct our deputies to press forward their work on the drafts with utmost speed, reserving major matters on which they cannot agree for resolution by the foreign ministers at the Paris meeting beginning April 25."

Byrnes said he hoped the other three men would agree that such a meeting was "essential to enable us to carry out the decision of the Moscow conference with respect to the peace conference."

All four countries are participating in the Italian treaty; all but France in the Balkan treaties, while Russia and Britain alone will write the pact with Finland under terms of the Moscow big three agreement in December.

Michael J. McDermott, state department press oficer, who disclosed the proposal to reporters at a hastily summoned news conference, said there had been no replies as yet.

He added, however, that the messages probably had been delivered only a short time before his announcement, and hence Byrnes would not expect any answers this early.

It's Official

The smart and comfortable battle jacket, which many servicemen had made up on their own hook, is now regulation issue for the U. S. Marine Corps. In the traditional forest green, the jacket, pictured on a sergeant at Marine Barracks, Washington, D. C., will be worn by officers and enlisted men alike.

Four Hurt In Collision Of Autos Friday

W. A. Hayes In Hospital With Chest Injury

Four persons were hurt in a head-on automobile collision shortly after 6 o'clock Friday evening one mile south of Sedalia on highway 65. W. A. Hayes, Thirty-second street and Ohio avenue, a patient in Bothwell hospital suffering from chest and head injuries over night, was released to go to his home Saturday morning.

Others treated at the hospital and released later to go to their homes are Vaden Waisner, Hayes' nephew, of the same address, laceration on the left ear and other cuts and bruises; Edwin Brandes, Cole Camp, lacerated right knee; Miss Sylvia Brandes, 312 East Third street, Brandes' sister, who sustained an extensive laceration on her forehead and a possible left knee injury.

The accident occurred, according to Pete Stohr of the state highway patrol, who made an investigation, when Waisner pulled out of a driveway at Paul's service station on the west side of the highway and crossed over the road to head north toward Sedalia. His car struck head-on with that driven by Brandes, who was going south.

Cars Badly Damaged

The impact threw both machines onto a driveway at the Hilltop service station across the highway. Waisner, who was accompanied by his uncle, was driving a 1936 Ford coach, and Brandes a 1935 Chevrolet coach. The front end of both cars were badly damaged.

Miss Brandes was riding in the front seat with her brother and in the rear seat of the Chevrolet were their sisters, Misses Ruby and Mabel Brandes. The girls, who are employed in Sedalia, were going to their home in Cole Camp to spend the weekend. After Miss Sylvia Brandes and Brandes were treated at the hospital for their injuries the group was taken to Cole Camp by a friend.

Mr. Hayes and Waisner were taken to the hospital in McLaughlin's ambulance and the others in a private car that passed the wreck scene. Hayes was unconscious for nearly two hours.
